

MOTION IN SENATE TO RECONSIDER SALES TAX VOTE

Offered in Effort to Increase the Half of One Per Cent Rate Fixed Yesterday.

INGENIOUS MOVE
BY 2 PCT. BLOC

Resolution Offered to Put Senators on Record on Purposes of Revenue Derived From Levy.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 24.—The Senate today took up the question of a reconsideration of the vote by which the amendment to the House bill reducing the tax rate from 2 per cent to 1 1/2 per cent was adopted.

The purpose of the motion to reconsider was to make possible an amendment increasing the rate above that fixed yesterday, and was deemed necessary by many Senators because of the defeat of proposals to place a tax of 1 1/2 per cent on manufacturers' and wholesalers' sales.

When the Senate convened the 2 per cent bloc introduced an ingenious worded resolution, prepared by Senator Jones of Kennett, designed to force the Senators to go on record on the questions of the purposes to which the revenue from the sales tax should be devoted.

Resolution's Provisions.
Jones' resolution specified those purposes to be the meeting of relief needs, the payment of old age pensions, the payment to counties and to St. Louis of a larger portion of the cost of the expense of maintaining patients in eleemosynary institutions, and of providing funds to carry out the 1931 public school law.

The resolution, which was temporarily withdrawn soon after its introduction to make way for the motion to reconsider the vote on the rate, was calculated to place the Senators in an uncomfortable position. A vote against it would subject a Senator to the charge that he was voting against adequate relief against old age pensions, eleemosynary aid and sufficient support for the public schools.

There was noticeable discomfort among the Senators until the resolution was given when Jones withdrew the resolution with the announcement that he expected to offer it later.

It was the belief of Jones and McReynolds that the adoption of the resolution would force a final vote for a 2 per cent rate, as it has been generally agreed that $20,000,000 a year would be required to carry out this program, and that 2 per cent would produce about that amount.

Donnelly Opposes Motion.
The motion to reconsider the vote on the rate was offered by Senator Barbour of Springfield, and immediately brought opposition from Senator Donnelly of Lebanon, who sought to confine the rate to an amount sufficient to take care of only emergency needs, in which he included only relief and old age pensions.

The money needed for these two purposes for the remainder of this year and for next year, he estimated at $5,000,000, which, exclusive of the one-third of all collections which under the law, must go to the public schools, would be obtained from a tax of one-half of one per cent.

Donnelly's figures included only $350,000 a month as the State's part of relief expenditures, though FERA officials have demanded $500,000 a month as the condition on which further Federal aid will be extended.

Yesterday's Proceedings.
Though Senator Cope of Salem, Senator Shotwell of St. Louis County and others expressed themselves in the Senate yesterday as opposed to meeting the FERA demand for a State relief appropriation of $6,000,000 a year, proposing instead $3,000,000 or $4,000,000, the Federal demand was taken seriously enough only a few days ago for the Senate to make its appropriation for April relief on the basis of $6,000,000 a year.

Senators Jones and McReynolds made no fight yesterday on the adoption of the committee amendment reducing the rate in the House bill from 2 per cent to 1 1/2 per cent. They had no objection to the committee proposal for a rate of 1 1/2 per cent on gross receipts by wholesalers and manufacturers on the theory that defeat of these proposals would force the Senate to reconsider its action on the rate and fix a higher rate to obtain the necessary revenue.

Amendments Cut Expected Revenue.
First they brought about the adoption of amendments to provide that the tax should be levied only on sales made for delivery in Missouri, a change which it was estimated would reduce the anticipated revenue from this portion of the tax to about $1,000,000. This added to the less than $5,000,000 which it was estimated would be derived from sales would make the total emergency revenue less than $6,000,000. As

SIX BARS, TWO LIQUOR STORES ON ONE BLOCK

Excise Commissioner Says They Are Enough for 5600 Delmar—Refuses License.

Six licensed liquor bars and two licensed package liquor stores on the 5600 block of Delmar boulevard, are enough for the needs of that block, Excise Commissioner Anderson declared today in refusing to issue a seventh bar license for the southwest corner of Delmar and Clara.

Maurice A. Oberman, applicant for the corner license, has spent some money in preliminary work on the place, following approval of his application by the recent Excise Commissioner, Harry Scullin. Former Judge Anderson, who succeeded Scullin April 15, found the application pending, with Scullin's approval noted, but the license still unissued.

Anderson found, by examining office records, that licenses for the sale of liquor by the drink are now being used at 5607, 5616, 5624, 5642, 5650 and 5651 Delmar, and that a grocery store at 5659 and a drug store at 5669 hold licenses for sale of liquor in packages.

Excise Court Action.
Anderson said he understood that Oberman would go into court to seek a mandamus to compel him to issue the license under the section of the city ordinance which states that, after having obtained the necessary endorsements and certificate of good character, the applicant shall receive his license. "I shall stand on another section of the same ordinance," Anderson said. "It states that the Excise Commissioner shall have authority to take into consideration the location, with reference to the proximity of churches, schools, parks, playgrounds, or this is the part that figures in this case—other places of the character of that for which a license is sought, and shall have authority to refuse a license when, in his judgment, it shall not be for the best interest of the locality."

"These two sections appear to be somewhat in conflict, and I shall be glad to have the courts decide whether the commissioner has discretion in issuing licenses, or is just a rubber stamp."

Protests Received.
Temple B. Neal is at the southeast corner of Delmar and Clara across the street from the proposed location, but its officers have given notice that they will not object to the proposed bar. Protests against the bar have been received from the owners of the Kingsbury Apartments, 501-525 Clara, and from the Washington Terrace Property Owners' Association, headed by Albert J. Davis.

One-third of this would be taken arbitrarily for the public schools, only $4,000,000 would remain for relief needs and old age pension, according to McReynolds and Jones, an amount which is $2,000,000 less than the estimated requirement for relief.

So amended, the committee amendment was rejected, the wholesalers' tax by a vote of 24 to 10 and the manufacturers' tax by a vote of 25 to 9. Senator McReynolds before the vote was taken said that a 1/2 per cent tax on the retailer with a 1/4 of 1 per cent each on the wholesaler and manufacturer would mean penalizing small merchants of the State in the interest of the chain stores and the large department stores. The chain store and the big merchant, he said, would purchase the large volume of their stocks from manufacturers outside the State, who could not be taxed by the State while the small merchant, who could buy only in small lots, the 1/4 of 1 per cent tax on retail sales would make the total emergency revenue less than $6,000,000. ## BAIL BOND REFORM FAILS BY 9 VOTES IN MISSOURI HOUSE

Another of Criminal Code Measures Sponsored by State Bar Association Beaten in Legislature.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, April 24.—Another of the criminal code reforms sponsored by the State Bar Association went down in defeat today when the House failed to pass a bill intended to remedy defects in the present bail bond system and to establish more stringent regulation of the qualifications of bondsmen.

The vote on the bail bond bill was 67 ayes and 30 noes, the favorable vote being nine less than the 76 required for passage in the House.

There was little discussion of the bill after it was called up for passage by its co-authors, Representatives Maxey of Bates County and Bennett of Dent County.

Maxey said there could be no valid objection to the provisions of the bill to eliminate bail bond frauds and require bondsmen to give bonds that would be sufficient. "The bill could not injure an honest man," Maxey said.

The opposition was led by Representatives Lauf of Cole County and Russell of St. Louis County. Lauf asserted everything proposed in the bill could be done under the present law, if the law were properly enforced. Russell declared the bill was "a lot of nonsense."

The bill would have required sureties on criminal bonds to make a showing, under oath, that they were worth the amount of the bond to be written, over and above the aggregate of their debts and liabilities and the amount of all outstanding bonds on which they already were sureties.

The measure would have prohibited acceptance on a bond of any person against whom an unsatisfied bond forfeiture judgment was outstanding. Mandatory examination of sureties under oath, as to their qualifications, would have been required, instead of the present optional examination by the court receiving the bond.

The Bar Association originally offered a criminal code reform program of eight bills and one proposed constitutional amendment, none of which has reached final passage. The constitutional amendment, designed to permit the State to take depositions of witnesses in advance of a criminal trial, and thereby be placed on an equal basis with the defense, was killed in the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments.

Policemen went with Shanks to his home at 2338 South Burns avenue, Overland, and found there more tickets, and copper plates for printing the background work of the tickets, the plates bearing seals and coats of arms. Shanks had in his pockets several seals for imitating Canadian postmarks, from Montreal and other Canadian cities.

The police quoted him as saying he would place Canadian postage stamps on letters, stamp them with the fake postmarks, and drop them into residence and apartment mail boxes, so that the recipients might suppose the letters had come from Canada.

Shanks said he had just started to sell the tickets, and had made no money yet.

Among Rosestein's effects, the raiding party found memoranda showing agents in various states. Inspector Mayer said he had found of the same kind, Anderson said. "It states that the Excise Commissioner shall have authority to take into consideration the location, with reference to the proximity of churches, schools, parks, playgrounds, or this is the part that figures in this case—other places of the character of that for which a license is sought, and shall have authority to refuse a license when, in his judgment, it shall not be for the best interest of the locality."

HOUSES SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKE IN CAPE COD AREA

Seismologist Reports Disturbance in Radius of 77 1/2 Miles From Harvard.

By the Associated Press.
PROVINCETOWN, Mass., April 24.—Earth tremors which shook houses and rattled dishes here were described today by Dr. L. D. Leet, Harvard seismologist, as purely local.

The earthquake, felt for miles along Cape Cod, occurred at 8:24 p. m., according to the Harvard seismograph. Although experienced in Gloucester, to the north of Boston, police said the shock was slight.

Dr. Leet said the quake "possibly occurred off the coast under the ocean." He said his apparatus showed the disturbance occurred in a radius of 77 1/2 miles from the observatory at Harvard.

N. H. Heck, earthquake specialist of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, said earthquakes have occurred in the vicinity of Boston and Cape Cod periodically throughout its history.

Civil officers and employees of the executive branch of the Government numbered 95,517 in the District of Columbia and 585,029 outside the district, a total of 680,546, as of March 1, with a total payroll of $98,217,485. ## AIR LINER BACK IN U. S., TO FLY AGAIN TO HAWAII

Clipper Plane Returns to California and Crew Stands Ready for Further Pacific Tests.

By the Associated Press.
ALAMEDA, Cal., April 24.—The Pan American Airways clipper plane Pioneer arrived here at 2:58 p. m. yesterday (4:58 St. Louis time), completing the first aerial round trip between California and Hawaii.

The return 2400-mile flight was made in 20 hours 59 minutes, the slow time being due to adverse winds. Average speed was 114 miles an hour, whereas normal cruising speed is 150 miles an hour. The westward crossing a week ago was made in 17 hours 45 minutes.

Further flights to Honolulu are contemplated by company executives to gather additional data for the projected establishment of regular commercial flight schedules to the Orient later this year. But no takeoff is expected to be made for several days at least.

Officers of the air line announced Capt. Edwin C. Musick, skipper of the clipper, and Fred J. Noonan, navigation officer, had been assigned temporarily to the base here, but might be returned later to duty at Miami, Fla.

Musick was pleased at the success of the clipper's two flights, although he looked on them as part of a routine schedule of exploratory work.

"The big thrill in the trip was the fact it was completed without a thrill," he declared. "I think this flight has largely removed the element of chance in the trans-Pacific journey."

"Naturally I agree with Mr. Tripp," he added, commenting on a telegram from Juan T. Tripp, Pan-American Airways president, congratulating the crew on its work, "that trans-Pacific service has been established through this trip, and possibly others to come."

The Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco announced it was placing the plane on its regular list of ship arrivals.

A crowd of 10,000 watched the big, four-motored flying boat alight on the water of San Francisco Bay.

Customs officers and California Department of Agriculture inspectors boarded the plane first for inspections. Later three bags of mail with 14,000 letters from Hawaii were unloaded.

Most of the flight was made above the clouds at an altitude of 7000 feet, but near the end the plane descended to 600 feet.

During the flight the plane went back and forth on three courses to gather experimental data.

At a meeting last night the Board voted to remove Nathan from office, but the action was rescinded when he protested.

Emil Nathan, whose activities as executive secretary of the Regional Board of the Missouri wholesale liquor dealers were criticized recently by the Federal Alcohol Control Administration at Washington, has resigned.

His resignation, submitted by mail from Pass Christian, Miss., where he is on vacation, was accepted without comment at a meeting of the Board Monday evening. The organization will hold its annual election of officers April 27, at which a president to be elected will appoint an executive secretary.

Nathan's withdrawal followed comment early this month by Harry Willingham, acting director of the FACA, in letters to Board members that the Administration had been told "that Nathan's activities as a broker and as Secretary of the Board are so closely related as to make it difficult to perform the duties of executive secretary effectively."

Willingham suggested that members of the regional board should meet at once to consider the advisability of removing Nathan from office, and proposed that the board should employ someone in no way connected with the liquor business. A whisky broker for many years before prohibition, Nathan volunteered to serve at executive secretary of the Regional Board at $1 a year. Since his appointment more than a year ago, the board's office adjourned the quarters of Nathan's brokerage firm in the Second Building, Fourth and Locust streets.

"It is understood," Willingham wrote Board members, "that numerous complaints have been received by Mr. Nathan, that he has disposed of those complaints without action by the regional board or a properly constituted subcommittee of the Board. In view of the fact that Mr. Nathan devotes most of his time to his brokerage business, it is felt that your Board should consider the advisability of removing Mr. Nathan as executive secretary and employing a paid executive secretary who will devote his full time to the office should be established in the immediate future."

"Alma's mother and I were going to leave here Friday, pick her up in Ohio and drive to New York, where we would board the Rotterdam, sailing Tuesday for Rotterdam. We were going to see the flower show that is held there once every 10 years."

Three other members of the revue, Melton of Indianapolis, Ind.; Virginia Merrick of Cincinnati, O.; and Dillard Winton of Nashville, Tenn., were in the cottage and, when Miss Schrader did not leave the bathroom, summoned aid and made several efforts at artificial respiration.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

RELIEF STRIKE DEMONSTRATION

One Hurt When Police Disperse Workers at Trenton, N. J.

By the Associated Press.

TRENTON, N. J., April 24.—One man was hurt and two police broke up a relief strike demonstration in front of the old post office building, where members of the State Emergency Relief Administration Council were in session.

workmen. A hearing on the order was set for May 2.

Mayor to Ask Laclede Gas Co. and Union to Arbitrate Strike.

Mayor Dickmann today was preparing to send letters to the Laclede Gas Light Co. and the Gas House Workers' Union asking both sides to agree to arbitrate the public dispute through the State Public Service Commission. He said Friday when police broke up the strike, he had been advised that the commission would act as mediator with the consent of the parties involved in the dispute.

The Mayor put the question to today when the latter called at City Hall where a union committee to take steps to revoke the gas company's franchise. William Brandt, secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union, a member of the committee, said he would recommend acceptance of the proposal by the union. Wagner said the proposition would be presented to the executive committee of the union tomorrow, after receipt of the Mayor's letter.

The petitions, bearing 50,000 signatures, were turned over to City Counselor Hay, who said the request would be submitted to the new special committee of the Board of Aldermen, to be appointed Friday, for consideration. Hay added that the city had requested the PWA funds to build a municipal gas plant, if it were decided that one was needed. The union men said they later would present additional petitions bearing a second group of 50,000 names.

DEALER SAYS COAL FOR RELIEF COSTS $85,000 TOO MUCH

Louis L. Horen Attacks $1.85 Charge for Delivery, Included in $4.35-a-Ton Price in City.

Louis L. Horen, independent coal dealer who has been in controversy with the Regional Coal Code Authority, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that the price paid for coal by the St. Louis Relief Administration was about $85,000 a year more than it ought to be.

The Relief Administration, which buys about 100,000 tons of coal a year for distribution among the needy, pays $4.35 a ton for the standard egg size commonly burned in St. Louis. This price is 91 cents less than the widely ignored price fixed by the Coal Code Authority, but about 50 cents more than is paid by private relief agencies, and, according to Horen's figures, 85 cents more than it ought to be.

Statement by Kasius.

Peter Kasius, St. Louis Relief Administrator, told a reporter that the price was determined, in accordance with instructions from FERA headquarters at Washington, with a view to accomplishing several ends other than the most economical distribution of coal.

"We were told not to take advantage of cut-throat competition in the coal business," Kasius said. "Washington pointed out to us that other agencies of the Government were working to rehabilitate the coal industry and that we should pay a price which would afford reasonable wages and working conditions to the miners and the handlers of coal. We might have had our coal trucked into St. Louis for less than we pay the railroad, but the Government wants to help the railroads, so we use them."

The price paid for relief coal, and all other matters concerned with it except the local distribution of fuel orders according to the needs of families on relief, were worked out directly by the Missouri Relief and Reconstruction Commission with the assistance of the St. Louis Relief Administration, Kasius said.

The $4.35 price was fixed, he said, after detailed study had been made of many factors, including NRA wages and working conditions, the operating costs of dealers and depreciation of their equipment.

Horen Supplies Schools.

Horen contended, however, that his figures also took these matters into consideration. He is president of the Coal Service Co., which supplied the public schools of St. Louis with their coal requirements during the past winter at $3.8 a ton. Horen estimated that $4.35 would be a fair price.

There are three elements in the $4.35 price paid by the Relief Administration, two of which are not in controversy. The coal is bought at the mines for $1.65 a ton, a discount of 10 per cent from the regular rate. The railroads haul it to the yards of St. Louis track dealers for 81 cents a ton, a discount of 20 per cent.

The third factor, an allowance of $1.85 a ton to dealers for delivering the coal to consumers, is the item in dispute.

Horen said the prevailing rate paid during the past heating season by dealers who hired trucks to deliver coal from their yards to consumers was between 60 and 75 cents a ton. He said he could supply many dealers who would deliver the coal for $1 a ton.

Question to Be Reopened.

Kasius said the whole question of the handling of relief coal would be reviewed this summer before arrangements were made for next winter's supply. He doubted, he said, that the coal could be obtained as cheaply as Horen insisted, but he was of the opinion that a price of 15 or 20 cents less might be secured and still afford dealers a margin which would enable them to meet NRA requirements.

In accordance with the new national relief policy of restoring the administration of direct relief to the states and local governments, the FERA has now relinquished its control over the relief coal situation, Kasius said, and next winter the matter may be handled as the states and communities see fit.

Horen's company was brought into Federal court by the coal code authority recently in an effort to compel him to adopt the price scale fixed by the code authority. There was no complaint that he had violated the wage and working condition provisions of the code. Federal Judge Davis refused to issue the injunction sought by the code authority, holding that price fixing was not authorized under the NRA.

Recently before a Senate committee investigating the NRA Horen charged that the relief coal business was being used as a "plum" to force members of the industry to comply with the code. Only dealers whom the code authority certifies as being in compliance with the code are permitted to handle relief coal.

The relief coal business in St. Louis has been divided among about 7 dealers who have been so certified by the code authority.

MAN, 82, SENT TO JAIL; ST. LOUIS REALTY MAN HIT BENEFACITOR, 86 ENDS LIFE IN NEW YORK

William Kelley, 82 years old, was sent to the Workhouse by Police Judge Vest today for creating a disturbance at the home of Joseph Goodfellow, 86 years old, 6048 Cabanne place.

"I've been feeding him off and on for 10 years," Goodfellow told the judge. "Yesterday he came to the house and the cook gave him food. Apparently he didn't like it, because he got mad and threw the dog's water pan through a window. I grabbed him by the coat and said, 'Wait a minute, we're going to see how much damage was done.' He hit me in the face."

Kelley testified he had been in trouble only once before but Judge Vest contradicted that, saying he remembered having him in his court 10 or 12 times in the last year, for being drunk and for disturbing the peace.

"What do you recommend?" he asked Goodfellow.

"Well," was the reply, "I think he ought to get 50 lashes on the bare back and then turn him loose."

"It may be all right to do that in Delaware," the judge retorted, "but we can't do it here. Thirty days for peace disturbance and 30 for destruction of property, the sentences to run consecutively."

At the Farish-Knapp Real Estate Co., 713 Chestnut street, where Bierman had office space, it was said he left St. Louis about a month ago for Hot Springs, Ark., on account of his health. Friends said he formerly had considerable property holdings here, some of which he had lost since the depression.

Bierman, a bachelor, formerly had offices in the Wainwright Building.

Trucker Killed Crashing Into Train

HENRIETTA, Mo., April 24.—Charles Lilly, about 45 years old, a trucker returning from Kansas City to his home at Tina, was killed early today when his truck crashed into the side of a fast Wabash passenger train near here.

The electric heater, Abell said, had been placed in the room at the hotel.

Hotel Manager's Comment.

C. S. Abell, manager of the hotel, was at loss to account for the presence of cleaning fluid in the check room. He said the attendants there were forbidden to do any dry cleaning for guests.

WOMAN KILLED IN EXPLOSION AND FIRE AT HOTEL

Mrs. Loretta Dott, Checkroom Attendant, Dies of Burns After Cleaning Fluid Is Spilled on Heater

Mrs. Loretta Dott, checkroom attendant at Hotel Statler, died last night at City Hospital of burns suffered in the afternoon when cleaning fluid, accidentally spilled on an electric heater, caused an explosion and fire in the small room at the south end of the hotel lobby.

Miss Mabel Cronin, also an attendant in the checkroom, was burned on the face, arms and legs. Physicians at City Hospital expected she would recover. Otis Jones, negro porter, who was cleaning the checkroom at the time, was burned slightly, on the face and hands.

Story Told by Police.

Miss Cronin told police she knocked a gallon jug of the cleaning fluid from a shelf as she was climbing a ladder, at 4:20 o'clock, to reach a package she expected a guest to get. The package was on a shelf 12 feet high, Miss Cronin said, and the jug of cleaning fluid was at about the six-foot level.

When it fell, striking the tile floor the jug broke, spattering the contents on the electric heater. There was a muffled explosion and flames filled the room.

Across the passageway from the entrance to the check room, Miss Sally Miles, clerk at the cigar counter, had just lifted a box of cigars to offer them to a customer. The explosion blew the cigars from her hand. She screamed "Fire!"

A moment later Mrs. Dott appeared at the half-door and counter which serves as the entrance, and struggled to get out. Her clothing, even her hair, was ablaze. Several men, rushing from various points in the lobby, lifted her over the counter and wrapped her in a rug to extinguish the flames.

Miss Cronin and the porter ran out of the room as fast as they could. Miss Cronin, her clothes afire, collapsed on the lobby floor. Hotel guests and employees rolled her in the rug on which she fell.

Crowd Attracted to Scene.

There were comparatively few persons in the large lobby at the time of the explosion, but the excitement quickly attracted a large crowd of passersby, who milled about the lobby in confusion.

The fire was quickly extinguished by the first firemen who reached the scene. They estimated the damage at $50 to the building and $100 to the contents.

Mrs. Dott, who was 34 years old, died at 10:30 o'clock. She lived at 614 Delmar boulevard. Her husband, John Dott, a paper hanger, resides at 3827 St. Louis avenue. Because of financial difficulties he had returned recently to the home of his family, while she shared an apartment with another employed woman.

BURNED TO DEATH

request of the women who worked there, because the room was hard to heat. He doubted that it had been in operation yesterday afternoon, when the temperature was in the seventies, but the first policemen on the scene reported that the heater was turned on. Abell inclined toward the theory that friction, either from the use of the cleaning fluid on clothing, or from wiping it up after the jar had broken, caused the fire.

The checkroom occupies an area about 16 by 18 feet. A rack for coat hangers runs down the center and there are shelves and compartments for luggage around the walls, except for a space on the St. Charles street side, where there is a large window.

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Dott will be held tomorrow morning.

HUMANE SOCIETY TO PATROL FOREST PARK BRIDLE PATHS

To Send Officer Every Sunday to Watch for Any Abuses of Horses.

Traffic regulation on the bridle paths in Forest Park, including "polite coaching" of inexperienced riders, will be undertaken by the Humane Society of Missouri, following recent complaints that rented animals were being abused.

Every Sunday a society officer, in uniform and mounted, will patrol the paths, acting as a monitor and instructor rather than a policeman. Eric H. Hansen, managing director, said most cases of abuse were due to inexperience or the desire of young man riders to "show off" for the benefit of girl companions.

Points to be emphasized will include use of the curb rein, which, when jerked, causes the animal to rear, endangering the rider as well as annoying the animal. The officer also will caution riders against excessive galloping, which is dangerous at crossings and needlessly exhausts animals.

WIFE TELLS HOW SHE MET CARVETH WELLS

Introduced at Publicity Office Two Years After Date of Alleged Alienation.

By the Associated Press.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 24.—Mrs. Zetta Robert Wells of Weston, spent eight minutes on the witness stand today emphatically denying she alienated the affections of Grant Carveth Wells, her present husband. Mrs. Luard T. Wells of New York, the first wife of the traveler and lecturer, is asking $50,000 for the alleged theft of Wells' affections.

The witness asserted she first met her husband in January, 1931, at the publicity office of a New York hotel when Wells came to her with a letter of introduction from Commander Eugene MacDonald of Chicago. The plaintiff maintains the alleged alienation took place in 1928 and 1929.

"I never saw or heard of Wells prior to meeting him at the hotel," said the defendant.

His Business Manager.

"Following this meeting, I attended a lecture he gave at Columbia University and afterward I entered into a business arrangement with him whereby I became his business manager."

"This arrangement was similar to one I had with Count Von Luckner, Donald McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, Roy Chapman Andrews, Lowell Thomas and others."

The witness denied two incidents that were offered by the plaintiff to support the latter's claims that the present Mrs. Wells had known Wells some time previous to the alleged introduction, and that at one instance, the witness had escaped from Wells' apartment during a surprise raid.

The first of these is alleged to have occurred in July, 1929, when according to testimony offered by Sarah Marshall of New York, the present Mrs. Wells arrived at a lecture being given by Wells and insisted she be allowed free admission as she was a friend of his.

Second Incident.

The second event, according to testimony of the plaintiff, is alleged to have taken place Oct. 10, 1931, in front of Wells' Madison avenue apartment where his first wife said a person who was garbed in ill fitting male clothing and had emerged from Wells' home turned out to be the defendant.

"I never left any apartment at any time dressed in male attire," said the witness.

Asked when she first saw the first Mrs. Wells, the witness said: "It was at an alimony hearing in New York last year. I asked that she be pointed out to me. That is the first time I have ever seen the woman."

FOURTH EFFORT TO GET MELLON BANK DATA FAILS

Tax Board Again Turns
Down Request for Union Trust Co. Records, Denies Argument.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, April 24.—Government counsel today lost its fourth attempt to delve into the records of the Union Trust Co. at Andrew W. Mellon's income tax hearing.

Presiding Member Ernst H. Van Fossan of the Tax Appeals Board hearing the case turned down the motion of Robert H. Jackson, attorney for the Internal Revenue Board, without listening to arguments.

Jackson wanted to get into evidence the records of Union Trust relating to the Union Savings Bank, a subsidiary.

The Government alleges that the Mellon family dominated Union
Trust and that the former Treasury
Secretary was able to make stock transactions with it which enabled him to deduct losses in his income tax report.

Jackson, in asking for the records, said they would show "strong evidence of the interest of R. E.
Mellon" (Andrew's brother) in matters related to the case now under consideration, in which the Government seeks to collect $3,089,000 from the banker on his income.

Government counsel recently obtained a subpoena calling for records to show the stock holdings of the Mellon family in Union Trust.

After today's motion was denied, Jackson noted an exception to the ruling, specifying that no argument was heard.

The hearing was resumed with Hoyt A. Moore, general counsel for the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, on the witness stand. He was questioned concerning his part in the negotiations by which Bethlehem acquired the McClintic-Marshall steel fabricating concern, which was controlled by the Mellons.

His predecessors on the stand were Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem, and Vice-President R.
E. McGrath.

The Government seeks to collect from Mellon about $1,089,000 on the transaction, the total representing about half the $2,089,000 tax claim on his 1931 income.

F. R. Shearer, Government attorney, alleges that the formation in December, 1930, of the Union
Construction Co. to take over $44-000,000 in McClintic-Marshall assets was not connected with the fabricating business and the subsequent acquisition of $21,000,000 in properties by Bethlehem constituted two steps in a single deal and should be taxed as a sale—not a merger.

$9100 LEFT TO CHARITY

BY MRS. JULIA S. STRAUB

Home at 3925 Flora Place and Property Adjoining It Go to Son, Arthur O. Straub.

The will of Mrs. Julia S. Straub, who died April 15, was filed for probate yesterday. It provided for payment of $9100 to benevolent organizations. Her home at 3925 Flora place and property adjoining it were left to her son, Arthur O.
Straub, while $14,000 was left to her daughter, Mrs. W. Fred Anheuser.

After settlement of specific bequests has been made, the residue of the estate, the value of which has not been determined, was divided equally between the daughter and son, who were instructed to set aside $50,000 for each of their children. Mrs. Anheuser has three children, Frederick S., William S. and Presley S., and Straub has two,
Julia and Arthur O. Jr.

The benevolent bequests were as follows: $2000 each to the Emmaus Asylum, German General Protestant Orphans' Home and the Good Samaritan Alms House; $1000 each to the St. Louis Alms House, Children's Home Society of Missouri and St.
Louis Chapter of the Missouri Society for Crippled Children, and $100 to the South Side Day Nursery.

Mrs. Straub was the widow of August W. Straub, president of the former International Bank. Her son and son-in-law were named as executors of her will.

MOTORIST FREED OF CHARGE OF DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Judge Dickmann Orders Accusation Against Robert Pearce of Maplewood Dropped.

Robert Pearce, 36 years old, a salesman, 2019 Big Bend boulevard, Maplewood, was freed yesterday of a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Judge Dickmann ordered the charge dropped after a preliminary hearing in Court of Criminal Correction.

Pearce was arrested April 7, after three men in another automobile had reported to the police that they had followed him for several blocks and that he was driving erratically.
He denied that he was intoxicated.

his unconscious brother, Albert, 13,
from railroad tracks here yesterday. The boys were playing along the track when Albert stumbled,
his head striking a rail.

CODE AMENDMENTS FORBID PREMIUMS IN LIQUOR TRADE

Co-operative Advertising Also Barred in New Rules Approved by President.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—President Roosevelt has approved a group of code amendments for the liquor industry which are interpreted by the Federal Alcohol Control Administration as tightening present codes.

The amendments—which apply to distillers, rectifiers, brewers, importers, wholesalers and the wine industry—prohibit prizes, premiums, co-operative advertising and gifts, including advertising novelties.

The effective date of the new amendments will be announced later by Joseph H. Choate Jr., chairman of the FACA.

PRESIDENT PUTS JOBS PROGRAM INTO OPERATION

President emphasized pay jobs on the regular Federal payroll would not be permanent and would end when the undertaking is completed.

Ikke's Position in Program.
Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who administered the recent $3,300,000,000 public works program, will continue as supervisor of strictly public works undertakings in the new setup.

The President said he was seriously considering the advisability of straight 100 per cent loans to political subdivisions rather than grants and loans under the program. This plan would reduce the interest rates and extend the time for repayment.

The rural re-settlement program involves, first, individual families which find it impossible to make a living and desire to be moved to other settlements. Secondly, there is a problem of transferring a group of people who want to go out to new lands such as the group in the Northwest soon moving to Alaska.

Thirdly, there is a question of stranded communities involving wholesale removal to places of better opportunity, and finally, the problem of transferring slum inhabitants to rural communities outside the city.

Walker, lawyer, of Montana and New York, took charge today of a clearing house through which plans for spending the $4,000,000,000 works fund began to move.

A close friend of President Roosevelt for years, he was appointed by the President yesterday. He replaced Donald R. Richberg as executive director of the National Emergency Council and immediately set up a special division to receive all work relief applications.

Walker previously had held the directorship of the council.

The new "division of applications and information" was charged by the President with taking the plans of Federal officials, state and local agencies and preparing them for quick action by the works allotment board.

Richberg, who recently was named chairman of the board in charge of the recovery administration, said he planned to "go into hiding" for 10 days to prepare for a test of NRA's constitutionality before the Supreme Court. With Stanley Reed, Solicitor-General, he has been chosen to present the Government's side of the case in arguments before the court.

Secretary Ickes said yesterday that he intended to confer with union labor leaders soon regarding a downward revision of the present public works wage scale. Ickes said recently that all work projects would have a uniform wage scale.

While the work relief bill was being debated in Congress, administrative officials proposed that those getting jobs under it be paid "security wages" averaging about $50 a month. A Senate bloc backed by the American Federation of Labor failed in an effort to amend the bill so that wage rates prevailing in private industry would have to be paid the relief workers.

The present PWA wage scale, in most sections, is 40 cents an hour for unskilled labor and $1 an hour for skilled workers.

Administrator Ickes suggested last fall that a reduction in PWA wages would make possible wider employment in the building trades.

An indictment charging embezzlement of $1480 from his employer was voted by the grand jury yesterday against Anthony A. Bockertette, 20-year-old bookkeeper formerly employed by the Jenkins Optical Co., Arcade building.

He was arrested two weeks ago on complaint of company officials. Police said Bockertette made a statement admitting taking from $3 to $9 a day in company funds since his employment two and a half years ago.

U. S. JUDGE KNOX SPEAKS HIS MIND ON 'BIG BUSINESS'

He Says 'Blind Bullying' Makes Fallow Ground for Ideas of Huey Long and Father Coughlin.

POINTS TO DANGER IN THE SITUATION

People With Nothing to Lose Won't Fight to Preserve Capitalistic System, He Warns.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 24.—Judge John C. Knox of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in an address before the Harvard Alumni Association last night, declared "big business" was blindly attempting to "bully" the country into submission and, he said, this attitude was furnishing fallow ground for the "pernicious doctrines" of Huey Long and Father Coughlin.

He said that "big business, as a whole, still wishes to have what it wants when it wants it."

"Be sure of this," he went on, "if capitalism persists much longer in the belief that it is superior to the mass of humanity, and if it continues to exhibit the selfishness that heretofore animated its being, and which still stirs in its heart, the citadel of concentrated wealth is in danger of serious impairment."

"Will you tell me why big business, in the light of all that has happened, continues to believe that it can bully the country into submission to its will? That result is no longer capable of accomplishment."

Consequences of Confusion.
Citing the confused financial trails left by utility companies, the "machinations of Krueger and his ilk," large corporation bonuses to officers, and sale of bonds issued by "dishonest and impetuous governments," Judge Knox said it was not surprising that officials of cities and states "are responding to the political opportunities that Bourbonism furnishes them."

"They recognize," he said, "that thousands on thousands of people who once had property, and have it no more, are unwilling further to fight, bleed and die for the capitalist system."

"The politicians appreciate, too, that when millions of men and women are on the dole and are without hope of ever again having a property interest in anything, they have little reason to be readily regimented in support of big business."

"Thank God, these persons, of whom there are 20,000,000 or more, have not become desperate, and I pray that they will not become so. But this much is certain, their minds have become fallow within which Father Coughlin and Huey Long can sow the pernicious doctrines they espouse."

"Sins of Capitalism."
"My friends, I have said enough. I hope to cause you to ask yourselves if the sins of capitalism have not made, and if they are not making, large contributions to the possibility that Huey Long may run and run well for the Presidency of the United States?"

"If you conclude that this is so, and if you believe with me that unless economic conditions soon improve, a substantial portion of the population may decide that it has

BRITISH MAYOR REFUSES INVITATION TO KING'S FETE

Says Expense of Trip Would Rob Crippled Children of Holiday.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, April 24.—Mayor Weightman of a South London borough today turned down an opportunity to greet King George on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his reign. The Borough Council of Bermondsey voted to uphold his decision.

The Mayor said expenses for his junket to meet the King "would rob 30 poor crippled children of a week's holiday by the sea."

On May 6, Accession day, some 740,000 receivers of unemployment relief will draw an extra half crown (normally 62 cents).

Extra jubilee relief to poor law applicants will be made by each local authority. In London, this relief will amount to two shillings (normally 50 cents) to 20 shillings (normally $2.50) for the men, Toys and games will be given the children. Blind people in need will also draw an extra two shillings. The poor in hospitals will be given special fare with tobacco and cigarettes added for men.

PLANE FALLS IN MONTEREY BAY TWO ARMY FLYERS KILLED

Accident Occurs Off Watsonville, Cal.; Man and Wife Lose Lives in Texas Crash.

By the Associated Press.
WATSONVILLE, Cal., April 24.—The bodies of two army flyers and wreckage of their observation plane were sought today in Monterey Bay into which they plunged yesterday afternoon while on a training flight.

Private Russell E. Laird, 29 years old, Bakersfield, Cal., a Second Lieutenant of the Air Corps Reserve, and Private Bernard F. Rygwalski, 29, Cleveland, O., were killed when their plane fell 200 yards from the beach, after it had dropped out of a formation of five from Crissy Field, San Francisco. The plane nosed over and sank immediately. Both Laird and Rygwalski got free of the craft, but disappeared.

By the Associated Press.
EL PASO, Tex., April 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Denkmann, Tucson, Ariz., were burned to death when their plane crashed last night near Fort Hancock, 54 miles east of here. No witnesses to the actual crash were found, but persons at Fort Hancock said they saw the plane, with its motor missing, flying low over the post before the accident.

MAX REINHARDT TAX CLAIM Germany Asks Austria to Aid in Collecting $110,000.

By the Associated Press.
VIENNA, April 24.—The newspaper Stundee said today the German revenue office has appealed to Austria for assistance in collecting from Max Reinhardt, German theater impresario, unpaid taxes amounting to $110,000.

The paper said that, following the German request, Austria has found a considerable amount due the Austrian Government. A planned auction at Reinhardt's castle, Leopold's Kron, near Salzburg, to cover tax debts, has been postponed. Reinhardt already has sold its valuable interior furnishings.

little to lose but may have something to gain from Huey's election, tend your arm to whipping capitalism into proper behavior.

"So far as I am concerned, I have no faith in the nostrums of Huey Long and Father Coughlin. As between them and the men of finance who have impaired the theories of the capitalist system, I prefer to take my chances with the latter. But so far as the large portion of the public concerned, it says 'To hell with capitalism and all its protagonists.'"

PAGE 12A EAST SIDE TOWNS ELECTRIC POWER IS CUT BY STRIKE

Industries Curtail Operations in Madison County, Granite City Dark Two Hours.

Reduced electric power resulting from the strike of electricians employed by the Illinois Power & Light Co. has forced industries to curtail operations in Madison County, is threatening water supply in towns where pumps are operated electrically, and continues to limit home use of power and street lighting.

At Granite City, Nameoki and surrounding territory lights were out from 7:30 to 9:30 last night when industrial plant and home consumption increased the peak load more than the incoming current.

Service was partially restored when the industrial plants cut down operations in order to increase the amount of power for homes.

Tower Dynamited, Service Cut.
A tower for supporting lines carrying 66,000 volts was dynamited Sunday night near Granite City. The light company restored service by relaying power over two 33,000-volt lines from the Belleville plant, but one of these since has failed, reducing the available current to 33,000 volts.

The vocational department of the Granite City Community High School also stopped operation of lathes and other machinery for instruction of students in order to save power. One of the largest plants to reduce operations was the National Enamel & Stamping Co. Granite City officials said the water supply was not in danger of being cut off because power to the plant was not supplied by the Illinois Power & Light Co.

At Edwardsville the available current has been reduced about 15 per cent, because power lines are down and current is being relayed from distant points. Mayor Straube of Edwardsville yesterday issued a statement asking consumers to conserve water so that reservoirs now filled will last as long as possible. Pumps to fill the reservoirs are electrically operated and while there is enough power now to keep them running, the reservoir supply would soon be exhausted if the current failed entirely.

An elevator at the Madison Tuberculosis Sanitarium failed to operate yesterday because of failing power.

2500 Idle at East Alton.
Power operations in the Western Cartridge Co. plant, East Alton, which stopped early yesterday because of low current, remained inactive today, keeping 2500 employees idle. The cartridge company plant is the only one in the Alton district getting power directly from the Illinois Light & Power Co. lines.

The plant also operates pumps for the water supply in East Alton, and while there is still power enough to operate the pumps, a 45-horsepower tractor was moved into the plant grounds last night in case the current should fail entirely. Labor operations are being continued at the plant.

At Collinsville power has been reduced 40 per cent below normal for general household and store purposes. The Chemical & Pigment Co., paint manufacturers, closed its plant yesterday, keeping 100 employees idle. Power is now coming into the town over only one line.

Partial service was restored to Caseyville at 10 o'clock last night after the town had been without power for 24 hours due to the cutting of poles Monday night carrying power lines from the Illinois company's plant at Belleville. The Atlas Leather Co., employing 30 persons, is closed.

Venice and Madison, where only partial service has been supplied for two weeks, experienced another 10-minute period of darkness last night when the peak load period was reached. Industrial plants cut power usage and restored the current for general purposes.

Highways Are Patrolled.
Illinois State Highways from Cahokia to East St. Louis and Belleville were patrolled last night by a force of 30 men, including deputy sheriffs, East St. Louis Park Board policemen, and Monsanto police.

Sheriff Henry Siekmann of Belleville said he had received a report an attempt would be made to cripple power lines that served Belleville and nearby towns.

The East St. Louis & Suburban Railway, a subsidiary of the Union Electric Light & Power Co., also had guards watching high tension lines carrying power from the Cahokia plant.

Plan to Restore Gas.
Restoration of service to Mount Vernon and Centralia, without gas since April 3 because of the strike, appeared likely today.

John H. Mitchell, manager of the Southern Illinois district of the Illinois Power & Light Co., has approved a plan for a Cleveland, O., company to take over the plant serving the two towns until regular workers return to their jobs. Further details of the plan were to be considered today at a Centralia meeting with E. E. Steinwedell, president of the Cleveland Gas Machinery Co., who offered his firm's services to restore plant operation. Mayor Straube of Edwardsville said he was informed by Gov. Horner, to whom officials of affected cities have appealed, that Maj. A. V. Becker, Federal arbitrator for the Illinois Industrial Commission, will be in Madison County today to study the strike situation.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

So that you may have a clear conception of the Kelvinator's exclusive Meter-Ator Plan, we believe the following facts will be of material interest to everyone contemplating the purchase of an electric refrigerator.

- First, on the Kelvinator Meter-Ator Plan, the carrying charge is exactly the same as if you were to purchase your Kelvinator on a regular standard plan of 10% down and the usual monthly payments.
- Second, there is no extra charge for either the Meter-Ator or collection service.
- Third, in buying your Kelvinator on this plan the small amount deposited daily is not only saved in food purchases and the elimination of the ice bill, but it also is such a convenient way of paying for your refrigerator that it is hardly missed.
- Fourth, there is no down payment on any model Kelvinator you select by using the Meter-Ator Plan.

With all of the above facts before you, may we hope that you will visit any of the authorized Kelvinator dealers listed below to select any of the twenty beautiful models which Kelvinator offers this year.

Yours very truly,

HUNGARIAN ACTRESS ACQUITTED IN TRIAL ON PERJURY CHARGE
Sari Fedak Was Accused of False Testimony in Breach of Promise Suit.

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—Sari Fedak, Hungarian actress, was acquitted last night by a Superior Court jury on a charge she gave perjured testimony during the recent trial of a $250,000 breach of promise suit against Ernst Vajda, wealthy motion picture playwright. The jury deliberated less than three hours. The prosecution attempted to prove Miss Fedak made false statements in a deposition in which she declared Vajda told her at a dinner party that he was divorcing his wife and planned to marry Vilma Aknav, another Hungarian actress, who brought the $250,000 suit. Both women were indicted in connection with the suit, which was dropped recently. Under cross-examination, Miss Fedak stuck to her story of a Beverly Hills dinner party given by Ernst Lubitsch, noted movie director, in her honor. At this party, she contends Vajda told her to write Miss Aknav to come from Budapest to Hollywood so he could marry her.

WARBURG ASSAILS BANKING BILL AT SENATE HEARING

New York Banker Says It Will Create "Political Control" and Virtual Communism in System.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Expressing vigorous opposition to provisions of the omnibus banking bill giving the Federal Reserve Board more centralized control over currency and credit, James H. Warburg, New York banker, told a Senate Banking Subcommittee today they would bring "political control" and virtual Communism into the banking system.

Warburg, vice-chairman of the Bank of the Manhattan Co., took sharp issue with Marriner S. Eccles, governor of the Reserve Board, over the bill. Conceding deficiencies in the present system, he said it must be rebuilt from the bottom "and not content ourselves with anything so superficially conceived as the proposed legislation."

He urged as "far wiser" the appointment of a commission to study the entire banking and currency problem before any basic legislation is attempted. Warburg, the first banker to be heard on the legislation by the Senate group, asserted the United States today had a "currency dictatorship" and a banking system consisting only of a "hotch potch of remnants of partially discarded systems."

But, he added, title two of the bill would make a centralized system out of a regional reserve system, bring it under political domination and control and remove almost entirely the automatic controls inherent in existing law. He expressed the belief that such control would result in "more violent business cycles than we have ever had before, for the simple reason that a political Government will neither recognize an incipient boom nor have the courage to counteract it."

He also opposed the section, he said, because the proposal "is in effect a proposal to take a step defined by the Communists as the most essential step toward Communism."

YOUNG HUSBAND KILLS SELF LYING BESIDE SLEEPING WIFE
She Says He Might Have Worried Over Estrangement or Possible Arrest.

COLUMBIA, Mo., April 24.—Lying in bed with his 18-year-old wife, a tourist cabin five miles east of here, G. W. Jetton, 20, of Dallas, Tex., shot and killed himself with a shotgun early today.

Mrs. Jetton told police he might have been grief-stricken over their recent estrangement, or have feared arrest on an automobile theft charge. She was released when a coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

Married for 10 months, the Jettons separated two weeks ago, Mrs. Jetton said. Jetton came here Sunday with a rented car and asked that "we take a short ride," she continued.

Instead, they went to Kansas City, stopped there yesterday and then started for St. Louis. Mrs. Jetton said her husband appeared to be in fine spirits last night, but seemed worried after Mrs. Jetton called her father in Dallas and learned that authorities had ordered a search for the rented car as a stolen machine.

Mrs. Jetton said she had never seen the shotgun before and did not know where Jetton got it.

U. S. APPEALS COURT AFFIRMS LIMITING OF LAWYER'S FEES
Approves Maximum of $26,000 to S. M. Wallace in Franz Estate Litigation.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals, in a decision filed here today, affirmed the refusal of Federal Judge Farris to allow more than $26,000 in fees to S. M. Wallace for his services as attorney in the litigation over the estate of Ehrhardt D. Franz.

Wallace received the $26,000 fee for his services in behalf of Ehrhardt W. Franz. He objected that it was "grossly inadequate," but that allowance was upheld by the United States Supreme Court when it refused to review the findings of the lower courts.

Wallace then applied for an additional fee for services in behalf of other Franz heirs. The decision today was that these services, while of benefit to the other heirs, were incidental to his employment as attorney for Ehrhardt W. Franz and did not warrant additional compensation.

TWO NEGROES WHO CONFESS KILLINGS GIVEN LIFE TERMS
Ernest Burnett Shot Wife's Aunt Because She Refused to Prepare His Breakfast.

Two Negroes, who pleaded guilty of murders, were sentenced to life imprisonment by City Judge Borders in East St. Louis today. They were Frank Barnes, 45 years old, 113 North A street, and Ernest Burnett, 34, 1513 South D street. Barnes shot Clemmie Brown, who lived with him under his name, at their home Feb. 23. He and the Court he found two men visiting her and killed her in a jealous rage. Burnett shot his wife's aunt, Willie Williams, last June 24, in a quarrel because she refused to arise and fix his breakfast.

The Squad With "The Most Hustle and Fight" Frankie Frisch Ever Saw

50 TO 1 SHOT WINS IN THIRD RACE AT HAVRE

By the Associated Press.
HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 24.—The biggest upset to occur during the present meeting took place in the third race here this afternoon when Heilress, from the E. Cragie barn, paying $109.30, captured honors over 11 other players in the six-furlong test and her score resulted at the direct expense of the choice, Davoc. Coming from fourth position with a well-timed rush under the handling of F. Madeley, Heilress swept over the line to score by a length. True Charm after setting the pace finished third.

MEDWICK DOUBLES TO DRIVE IN THREE RUNS; HARRELL KNOCKED OUT

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, April 24.—Ray Harrell, right-handed recruit from Rochester, was the starting pitcher for the Cardinals this afternoon in the second game of their series with the Cubs and Manager Frisch of the Redbirds said that he would give another young pitcher, Norbert Kleinke, a chance to show his stuff in the series final tomorrow.

Lon Warneke, already twice victor for the Cubs, was on the hill for the visitors.

Harrell was the victim of a lively base hit barrage in the fourth inning when the Cubs got four straight hits. He was removed from the box, replaced by Bud Tinning.

TWO VETERANS GAIN PLACES ON HARVARD EIGHT

By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 24.—If a few of his sophomore classmates can duplicate the amazing rowing progress made by Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jr., Harvard will have one of the greatest varsity eights it ever boated.

The President's rowing team, in last year's freshman boat, started the indoor season as a member of Coach Charlie Whiteside's third-ranking eight. He speedily won his way into the second shell and when the Crimson crews went outdoors early this month, his improvement was so great that he was put into the first varsity.

Whiteside tried him out on several slides and young Roosevelt's form and drive were so impressive that he was assigned to the No. 6 oar, right in the "powerhouse," and the veteran Jim Gardner was demoted.

There were three other survivors of the 1934 Crimson varsity, which gallantly fought down the Thames' four-mile course last June as President Roosevelt looked on. Only two, Capt. Sam Drury, the stroke, and Leonard Eliel, No. 7, were strong enough to turn back the terrific competition waged by young Roosevelt's determined classmates.

Besides Gardner, Ray Clark, veteran bow, was dropped back to the junior varsity. The latter was ousted by the sophomore Bill Haskins.

At present, two of young Roosevelt's classmates are rowing directly ahead of him, Tom Choate at five and Oliver Scott at four. The No. 3 slide appears to be the property of a senior, Henry Saltonstall, brother of the burly Bob, who teamed with the great stroking Jerry Cassidy in four different crews, one a freshman boat, that triumphed over Yale.

Saltonstall seems to have found himself this season. His previous rowing experience was gained in second and third junior varsity and combination shells. Another sophomore, John Austin, has been swinging the No. 2 sweep.

This eight averages 185, ideal for a four-mile crew. The Crimson is little concerned over its crew's success or failure in the shorter races. A victory over Yale in the four-mile New London classic is all that matters.

Despite frequent shifts, the junior-varsity promises to be a powerful unit. Besides the two demoted varsity sweepers, it has retained three of its 1934 members, Henry Atherton, Bob Cutler and Talbot Rantoul. A new stern trio includes Cedric Francis, the stroke, Phil Bray and Frank Reese.

The Harvard varsity will engage the neighboring M. I. T. engineers three times this season.

The schedule: April 27—Princeton and M. I. T. at Cambridge; May 4—Cornell, Syracuse and M. I. T. at Cambridge; May 18—Columbia and M. I. T. at New York; May 25—Navy and Pennsylvania at Annapolis; June 21—Yale at New London.

MUNICIPAL BASEBALL LEAGUES WILL START PLAY THIS WEEK-END

A vacancy for one team in a South Side league remains to round out the Municipal Baseball Association, that will open its season Saturday and Sunday afternoons. It was announced today at the City Recreation Department.

It was further stated at the Muni office that there is a possibility of a Girls' Municipal Softball League. If enough teams make application and file their entries at $15 a team to cover cost of balls, umpires, etc.

The opening date of the Men's Municipal Softball Association has not been definitely set, but will probably be a week from Saturday. A few vacancies also remain in this organization.

NEAF, TAX REVIEWERS CLASH ON ASSESSMENT

Assessor Walks Out After Board Cuts University City Subdivision Valuation.

A reduction of a little more than 20 per cent in the total assessed valuation of property in the Parkview subdivision of University City was ordered today by the County Board of Equalization. The cut was made over the protest of Assessor Neaf, who walked out of the meeting angrily, asserting that members of the board "had no more idea of how to equalize than a goose." Neaf pointed out that the board had not considered the Parkview assessments in comparison with assessments elsewhere in the county. Blanket application of the reduction will be made by reducing for each of the 170 pieces of property in the subdivision the factor used in computing reproduction cost. Following the general reduction, based on detailed description of properties obtained by CWA and FERA workers, the assessment was increased this year to $1,534,000. Adjustment of individual complaints, prior to today's action, had reduced the total assessment by about $130,000, and the board's action today had the effect of a $293,000 reduction. This left the total about $1,241,000 more than it was last year.

Thomas Bond, attorney for property owners within the subdivision, said they did not object to the method followed by Neaf in the assessment, but regarded the factors he used in computing the assessment as too high. He mentioned that three homes in the subdivision, assessed at $10,000 to $11,000, had been sold recently at prices which ranged from $9,000 to $11,000.

Engineers' Figures Cited.

Neaf told the board he had employed engineers to make a detailed study of the plans and specifications of 12 typical homes in the subdivision and had their report that the reproduction cost would be 46 cents a cubic foot. The subdivision is bounded on the east by Skinner boulevard, on the

SAILING COLONISTS' SHIP TO ALASKA

Advance Party to Start Clearing Site for Colony.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—One hundred and twenty pioneers are on the seas today bound for Alaska to prepare for a Government-sponsored migration of families from drought-stricken areas of the Middle West. The men and equipment are aboard the motor ship North Star, which sailed about midnight for Seward, Alaska. From there the party will travel inland 125 miles to the Matanuska Valley, site of the new pioneering experiment. Other transients will follow to fill out west by Melville avenue and the Kirkwood-Ferguson street car tracks, on the north by an alley just south of Delmar boulevard, and on the south by the Rock Island Railroad tracks. Most of it lies in the county, but part is in the city.

Postal Money Orders Stolen.

Judge Dickmann's Record on Verdicts From Police Courts.

It was shown in an analysis of the figures for the last city fiscal year, which ended April 8, in sustaining only 169 cases Judge Dickmann differed from the decisions of the Police Court judges in 80 per cent of the cases.

Of the total of $89,358 in fines, court costs and Workhouse sentences which were appealed only $18,823 was collected or worked out in the Workhouse. After releasing from payment $70,534 of the Police Court fines and court costs Judge Dickmann's Court collected only 20 per cent of the amount appealed.

Of the cases sustained 104 worked out $18,088 in fines and court costs in the Workhouse at the rate of $3 a day. Cash collected in 66 cases totaled $735, of which $413 were fines and $292.50 court costs.

Fines totaling $41,058 in 461 cases were appealed from Judge George Vest's Police Court No. 2. During the last year 93,116 cases were heard in the two Police Courts, of which 49,738 were dismissed and fines imposed in 43,378. In these cases $565,234 were imposed in fines and $107,025 in Court costs for a total of $672,259.

Defendants in 10,711 cases were fined $60,920 and released on their good behavior. Part of the fines were remitted in 1736 cases for a total of $15,134. The city was unable to collect $36,412 in $30 cases.

TWO KILLED OVER BALL GAME

Player Shoots Heckling Woman Spectator, Then Himself.

COLUMBUS, Miss., April 24.—A Negro baseball game here yesterday ended in a double killing. Gus Brooks struck out. He became infuriated over a "ragging" by Linnie McGee, a woman spectator.

Sheriff Harry West reported that Brooks shot and killed the woman, then ran to his home. As the Sheriff approached, Brooks shot and killed himself.

DANCER LOSES $400,000 COMMON-LAW WIFE SUIT

Judge Says Geraldine Ott's Delay in Asserting Status Is Evidence She Didn't Possess It.

NEW YORK, April 24.—A Surrogate's ruling has barred Geraldine L. Ott, former Pittsburgh (Kan.) dancer and singer, from a widow's third share in the $1,250,000 estate of the late Bertrand L. Taylor Sr., whom she contended she married in a common-law ceremony.

Surrogate James A. Delehanty in a decision yesterday said: "Her delay in asserting her status as widow is cogent evidence of her own knowledge that she did not possess it."

Taylor died in Beverly Hills, Cal., April 6, 1934. His will bequeathing Miss Ott $10,000 was filed a short time later, and Miss Ott, the daughter of a dentist, sued for the right to election as his widow.

Taylor's children, Bertrand Jr. of New York, and the Countess di Frasso of Rome, New York and Hollywood, contested the suit. Surrogate Delehanty's ruling allowed their petition that the will be admitted to probate.

POLICE CHECKING UP ON BAFFLE BOARDS

About 50 Seized in 18 Months —Question Is: Are They Gambling Devices?

Baffle boards, offering cash and merchandise prizes for the "skilled" player, have been installed all over the city, in scores of drug stores, taverns and hotels.

Some of them offer cash prizes ranging from 10 cents to $2 for players who propel marbles about the boards in such a way that they cause various combinations of bulbs to light. Others, of simpler design, offer prizes for high scores.

In some cases prizes are given also for the highest score of the day and the highest weekly score.

Most boards offer 10 shots for a nickel, while some may be played for a penny. School children, in certain places, play the penny machines.

Two boards, confiscated yesterday by the police gambling squad at a cigar store at 720 Chestnut street, will be shown to the Board of Police Commissioners for a ruling as to whether they constitute gambling devices. Previous exhibits have resulted in rulings that they are gambling devices if prizes are offered.

Confiscation of the boards, in a store operated by William J. Miller, came after a probationary patrolman, in plain clothes, played both of them. One, known as "Criss Cross a Lite" yielded a 15-cent prize when he lit five bulbs in a row. He played the machine 11 times. A 10-cent prize was offered if four bulbs were lighted in a row.

Turning to an "Action" board, where a score of 12,500 was required to win 10 cents, the player tried five times but did not win anything.

Detective Sergeant Forthman, in charge of the squad, said it had confiscated about 50 boards in 18 months.

Soldier Bonus Issue in Senate; Two Theories on What Is Back Of Harrison's Compromise Bill

One Is Proposal Is Device to Aid Democratic Leaders' Re-election, Other a Fear Patman Measure Veto Can't Be Sustained.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The failure of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau to indorse the compromise bonus bill of Chairman
Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee has added weight to the report that the bill is a political device to aid in the re-election of the three administration leaders in the Senate—Robinson of Arkansas, Harrison of Mississippi and Byrnes of South Carolina.

This report is so generally believed in Washington that it is now said that if the veterans get any money this year they will have Senator Long of Louisiana to thank.

The reasoning is as follows:
Robinson, the Democratic floor leader, Harrison, chairman of the powerful Finance Committee, and Byrnes, regarded as the President's Senate spokesman, will be up for re-election next year. Under ordinary circumstances, their renomination and re-election would be a foregone conclusion.

"A material decline in the market
price of Government securities, which would be very likely to result from large expenditures outside the budget, would work a grave injustice upon all purchasers of Government securities, and would tend to slow up the whole recovery program."

This warning could not by any stretch of the imagination be construed as indicating that the President would sign the Harrison bill.

Only Other Explanation.
With Morgenthau refusing to indorse the Harrison bill and with the President declining to make a public announcement on it, there can be only one explanation for its inroduction other than the political consideration now current in Washington. It is that the Senate leaders do not know whether they have the votes to sustain the President's veto of the Patman inflationary bonus bill which passed the House.

Some private polls show that the
margin between overriding and sustaining is only one or two votes.
Others show that a veto would be sustained by four or five votes.

Harrison has announced that if the veterans want cash this year they had better support his bill be-

Patman bill would be sustained in the compromise bill if he, Robinson view with great concern the enactment of any bill which calls for large expenditures, without compensating additional taxes.

"The Harrison bill could cost between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 annually to meet the interest charges on the 3 per cent bonds exchanged for the bonus certificates," Morgenthau told the Senate committee. "The exact amount would depend on the volume of certificates exchanged. In general, the bill would cost about $500,000,000 more than the present bonus act,
according to Harrison's estimate."

All of the financial plans made by the Treasury for the coming year have been based on adherence to the President's budget. Moreover, the credit of the United States Government depends very largely, in my opinion, upon scrupulous adherence to the President's program. I don't think we can continue to enjoy the present favorable rates and favorable market for the sale of Government securities if new expenditures are incurred which go far beyond the limits of these which have already been outlined.

Three major questions were involved in the ruling by Judge Watkins. He held:

That the Duke Power Co. has the right to seek the injunction because it was a taxpayer in Greenwood County and because its business would be seriously impaired.

That the proposed PWA loan was not in compliance with the statute creating the Public Works Administration and that the Duke Power Co. was correct in contending the cost of the construction would exceed the amount to be appropriated.

That the proposed contract between the PWA and the county was unconstitutional.

In connection with the latter ruling, the judge held the county explanation current in Washington. It is that the Senate leaders do not know whether they have
the votes to sustain the President's veto of the Patman inflationary
bonus bill which passed the House.

Some private polls show that the
margin between overriding and sustaining is only one or two votes.
Others show that a veto would be

COURT BARS PWA LOAN TO COUNTY FOR POWER PLANT

U. S. Judge Watkins at Greenville, S. C., Declares Use of Federal Funds Unconstitutional.

By the Associated Press.

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 24.—
United States District Judge H. H.
Watkins granted the Duke Power Co. an injunction yesterday against the use of Public Works Administration funds by Greenwood County for the construction of a county-owned water power plant at Buzzard's Roost on the Saluda River.

The judge ruled that use of PWA funds to establish a local proprietary business in competition with an existing utility would be unconstitutional. He found that the proposed plant in effect would be a proprietary and not a public enterprise, since its primary purpose would be to sell power to private interests. The rates to be charged, he said, would furnish a yardstick to regulate the rates of the Duke Power Co. and its business would be seriously impaired.

Three major questions were involved in the ruling by Judge Watkins. He held:

HINES ESTIMATES COST OF BONUS MEASURES

Veterans' Administrator Final
Witness Before Senate
Finance Committee.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Senate Finance Committee concluded its bonus hearings today with testimony by Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, that the Patman and Vinson cash payment plans would cost $1,000, 000,000, roughly more than the Harrison compromise.

Chairman Harrison (Dem.), Mississippi, author of the compromise, announced at the conclusion of Hines' testimony that the committee would meet tomorrow in executive session in an effort to report a bill to the Senate.

Hines, who has held his post through Republican as well as Democratic administrations, gave the cost and effect of the various bonus bills, but he did not express his own views on them.

He did, however, speak favorably of a suggestion that the Harrison measure should provide for cash payment of the surrender value of the certificates, instead of offering negotiable bonds. Hines said this would be simpler from an administration viewpoint and would make no difference in the Government's ultimate obligation.

Three major questions were in-

ITALIANS REPORT 'ANARCHY' IN NORTHERN ETHIOPIA

Authorities in Eritrea Tell of Depredations by Bandit Leader and His Gang.

ASMARAN, Eritrea, April 24.—
Italian authorities said Northern Ethiopia was in a state of virtual anarchy because of a bandit chief and his band of 50. They said the band controlled the region between Setit and Gondar, and exacted heavy tribute in goods and money from passing caravans. The Italians said the bandit killed one member of a caravan and wounded three others in a recent raid.

An official Italian communique declared: "The Government at Addis Ababa is fully aware of the situation, but is not disposed to take any step to combat it."

The National Union of Combatants voted in its annual convention at Le Touquet today to enter into discussions with veterans of other countries in the cause of peace. It said, however, that these efforts would be futile if Germany continued a policy of "prestige beyond reason."

Henri Pichot, president of the organization, told the 1500 delegates that talks such as those contemplated were helpful but must be carried out with "all frankness and prudence necessary."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

For Non-Partisan City Government.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

PERCIVAL CHUBB, in a recent letter to this column, has sounded a note which will receive the sympathy of many ears. The present group in control of our city government illustrates completely the folly of partisan politics in city or, for that matter, State government. The partisan system in national government might be defensible, as expressing various philosophies of government; but by what right do Democrats and Republicans thrust upon us their party machinery in city government? Local issues are not the same as national issues. The travesty of a candidate for Mayor of St. Louis asking support with the plea "Pull along with Roosevelt," or some other such bromide!

I think there are enough people in this city to form a strong movement to replace the present mismanagement with a better form of government; that is, people whose sense of the fitness of things is outraged by the sordidness of a wretched spoils system that festers and feeds on its corruption. It is not necessarily because of the men who are now in charge—it is that the present system would be bad under any leadership. It is hopeless fondly to wish that the present City Hall population will reform itself, and equally hopeless to believe that throwing out the Democrats and substituting Republicans will help matters. Mr. Chubb is right. We need a different system of city government. Maybe it should be the city manager system. Maybe it should be something else. Reinhold Niebuhr, a great thinker of our day, has said that people as a group can do nothing unless they form an organization. Is that the next step, Mr. Chubb? If it is, the politicians will tremble.

WILLIAM NEKOLA.
Germany and the War.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I SAW a letter in your Sunday edition on affairs in Germany by Lionberger Davis. Mr. Davis would revise the Versailles treaty and give the Germans a colony or two, and then put them on the back and tell them to be good boys and not bother us any more.

I don't know whether Germany started the World War or not, but there is a very large number of people who think she did, and as long as that thought prevails, there will have to be a great change in human nature if the Powers ever consent to any such scheme as Mr. Davis suggests.

J. B. CORYELL.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
YOUR editorial of April 16, wherein you tell how an Evanston News-Index reporter voted 19 times in a recent election without any challenge on the part of election officials, pointedly brings out a great weakness of our present registration and election laws. How can we be certain the same type of election fraud does not occur in St. Louis?

The registration bill for St. Louis, pending before the House Elections Committee of the State Legislature for the past 10 weeks, provides, among other things, for the prevention of such repetition by use of the signature requirement. Beyond a doubt the most effective means by which a voter may be positively identified at the polls is that of his signature. This system had been in use in Evanston, the demonstration put on by the News-Index reporter would have been stopped at its inception. A registration law should serve its fundamental purpose and prevent, as far as possible, frauds. For this, if for no other reason, our city officials should support, and our State Legislature should pass the pending permanent registration bill.

FRANKLIN F. WEHRLE,
Chairman, Civic Development Committee,
Young Men's Division, Chamber of Commerce.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
A Dog Racing Advocate.
I OWN greyhounds and I think the world of them. I noticed, in your issue of April 17, a substance about dog-racing in which you stated that many women were losing their husbands' last 50-cent pieces. I wonder if the dog track is the only place he has been in the past few years. If so, he ought to get out and see how many horse-racing joints there are in the downtown district, where the women are losing their last 50-cent pieces, since dog-racing closed here. If the "poor people" want to see the dogs run, why deprive them of this enjoyment?

The central library is in Mr. Richmond's log cabin home, and was started with one book, the New Testament. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has sent two of her own books.

A NEW CONSTITUTION?

Dr. William Yandell Elliott, professor and chairman of the department of government at Harvard University, has come out for the assembling of a convention to rewrite the American Constitution. His argument as taken from his new book, "The Need for Constitutional Reform," was set forth in detail in the editorial section of Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

The issue as Dr. Elliott sees it is not whether we are to change the Constitution but how we shall change it. The question he poses is whether the American people should reconstruct the Constitution in a comprehensive and orderly way or, by inaction, permit the events of a changing age to cause its abandonment a piece at a time. The scrapping will be automatic if thoroughgoing revision is not achieved, he contends.

It is not to be understood from this that the chairman of the department of government in the oldest university in the United States is opposed to the principle of government under a constitution. He not only believes in the constitutional idea but regards those who would rewrite the Federal Constitution as its best supporters. "It is not those who would reform," he writes, "but those who would ossify a constitution who bring about its destruction."

The example of Rome, Dr. Elliott thinks, is sufficient proof of what happens when a nation under the rule of the dead hand allows matters to take their course. Unless we profit by Rome's mistakes, he reasons, we shall before long find ourselves unable to make our governmental machine work and so follow the ancient republic's path into dictatorship and internal strife.

Whatever one may think of Dr. Elliott's proposed changes and the probability of their improving government and life within the United States, it must be agreed that the Harvard authority raises a problem of tremendous proportions. Moreover, he is not alone in his conviction. As long as three years ago, William Kay Wallace, publicist and former diplomat, urged complete revision of the nation's basic law in his book, "Our Obsolete Constitution." More recently, James M. Beck, former Solicitor-General and member of Congress, widely known as a stalwart defender of the Constitution, has declared in favor of certain structural changes when times are normal.

Plainly, the question is one about which the American people should begin to do some solid thinking. On the one hand, we do not want to permit the automatic destruction of our venerated document of fundamental law through inertia, as Dr. Elliott tells us will happen if we do not awaken to the needs of the hour. On the other hand, and just as certainly, we do not want to rush pell mell, without having first thought through what we are doing, into so monumental an undertaking as the rewriting of the country's supreme law.

Meanwhile, in all fairness, it should be said that the amending process is not unworkable. The Constitution has been changed in a number of very important respects since its creation. If the Norris amendment was a hard won victory, the repeal of Federal prohibition was comparatively easy once the people were aroused. It follows, therefore, that if those who would modify the Constitution have in mind any changes which are urgently needed, they should start a movement for their adoption in order that such proposals may be duly debated by the people.

LABOR HURTS ITSELF.

Three participants in the gas strike were arrested early yesterday morning as they maneuvered in the vicinity of a large valve with a charge of dynamite prepared to explode. They explained, according to police, that they intended to blow up the valve, one of the men, a veteran employee, 61 years old, being quoted as saying that the bombing "would have been in a good cause."

It is fair to ask what these men hoped to gain by their misguided mission, so fortunately frustrated by a railroad special agent. They would have damaged property belonging to the company against whose policies they were striking. They would have inconvenienced a portion of the gas consuming public of St. Louis. They might have caused loss of life. Would any of these results have reacted in their favor? Plainly, the answer is No.

This newspaper is entirely in sympathy with the efforts of labor to improve its lot. It recognizes the right to strike as inviolate. The worker who feels that he has been mistreated by his employer has the right to leave his post and to inform the public why he is following that course.

There is no right, however, for any striker to endanger, or worse still to destroy, life and property. As every newspaper reader knows, there has been a shocking amount of violence in this area in disputes such as that between the gas workers and their employers. House bombing has become a common occurrence, especially in St. Louis County. In recent weeks, much property has been damaged and service frequently interrupted in the strike of utility workers in Southern Illinois. Another fatality has been added to the long list run up in the Illinois coal mine union war, a feud which has resulted in several hundred mine, coal train and domestic bombings.

Martin Wagner, president of the Gas House Workers' Union, has condemned the use of violence in the gas strike, saying, "The union is absolutely opposed to any such tactics." This is precisely the attitude which organized labor, in its own best interest, should take.

SUGGESTION TO GOV. TALMADGE.

Gov. Talmadge of Georgia says the renomination of President Roosevelt would be a national calamity. The Governor's objection to the present administration seems to be its "orgy of spending, which means exorbitant taxation that is preventing recovery in America." As for himself, he is "a Democrat of the old Thomas Jefferson breed," and he pleads for a return to the old Thomas Jefferson doctrines.

One of the old Thomas Jefferson doctrines is that the states should not look to the central Government for aid and that they should jealously preserve state sovereignty. We should like to know how Gov. Talmadge squares his oratory with his acts. On behalf of his State, he accepted from the Federal Government, in the period from January, 1933, to June, 1934, the sum of $13,746,615 to provide for relief of destitute Georgians. In the same period, Georgia contributed the insignificant sum of $762,916.

Gov. Talmadge permitted the Federal Government to pay $4.74 per cent of his State's relief bill in that period. The Federal Government is continuing to pour money into Georgia, much of which may be paid by taxes collected in other states. If Gov. Talmadge believes so passionately in the principles of Thomas Jefferson, why does he not insist on Georgia's assumption of its own relief problem? Why does he not ask Mr. Hopkins to discontinue the flow of Federal funds?

If he should do these things, Gov. Talmadge's statements on national affairs might be taken a little more seriously. Jeffersonian Democracy begins at home.

A ZINC TALE.

The agricultural Middle West used to be largely roofed with galvanized steel. It isn't now. Journeying across the country today, from the Appalachians to St. Louis, the traveler observes "many barns with rusty galvanized steel roofs, but few with new roofs of this once familiar type." Such was the report of Ralph M. Roosevelt to the American Zinc Institute, of which he is the president.

Mr. Roosevelt's explanation was candid. When the price of zinc soared into the stratosphere during the World War, the manufacturers of sheet steel cut down on the quantity of zinc coating, the trade term for which is galvanizing. Before the war it was the custom to apply a one-ounce veneer of zinc on each side of a square foot of steel. The quantity was reduced to slightly more than a quarter ounce. An inferior product was the result. The farmers turned to other roofing material. And a market that consumed 35 per cent of the zinc used in the United States was lost.

The American Zinc Institute has been trying to recapture that market, and with some success. It fixed a galvanizing standard, adopting as its trade mark "the seal of quality." Steel sheet producers who complied with the institute's requirements were privileged to use the trade mark. At first there were some dissenters, but they have mostly been won over. A lost market is a powerful persuader.

There are many ways of killing the goose of gold—celebrity—none surer than cheapening the product. The moral is obvious and the aphorism old: Honesty is the best policy, not only in conscience but in cash.

POET FOREVER.

Scholars from many universities met in St. Louis last week, as the Classical Association of the Middle West and South, to honor a poet who lived 2000 years ago. Quintus Horatius Flaccus is the name—Horace to the world.

What manner of man was he who has survived two millennia? As a poet, he left it to Virgil to be the "bard sublime," and sang songs of lyric beauty which lovers ever since have been quoting in the moonlight. The crowds in the Forum pointed him out. Rank and fashion angled for invitations to his town house, and the week-ends at "that one dear Sabine farm" were gay and festive affairs, even though the host occasionally mused darkly over the falerian. The gods of the state religion were not for Horace. He did not believe in them. There was nothing beyond. To his friend and patron, Maecenas, he could make no promise to meet again, only that he would walk the same shadowy way. And the damozels of many odes, Lydia and Glycera and the others, were but "passing guests of the heart" that longed, like Sophocles, for middle age and escape from those tyrants, the passions.

His great enthusiasm, always the hallmark of the real poet, was the loveliness of his own land. Long, long after him, Goldsmith was to say what Horace knew and told with such feeling and charm—

Could nature's bounty satisfy the breast
The sons of Italy were surely blest.

Not like Virgil, who looked upon the Italian landscape and reported his observations, in splendid poetry, truly, but with the accuracy and completeness, say, of a botanical inventory. For Horace, there were "books in the running brooks," poems in the glittering stream, music in the waterfall, pastels in the silvery gray of the olive woods, a fierce, fine pride in the white crest of Soracte as the flames leaped high from the piled-up logs.

And the unbeliever had his gods. He revered them in the greatness of Rome's great men, in the rustic traditions of the virtuous elders, in the simple faith that held "the duteous cake and grains of salt crackling in the blaze" as acceptable to the Lares as the ostentatious sacrifice of many sheep.

He dwelt in that lush between the tempests of the Republic and Empire. The Roman roads were to be trampled into dust storms by the horses' hoofs and marching feet of barbarians from the North, but not yet. Not yet the "budding princeling" was to blossom into the blood-red flower of Nero. So he said his bright prayers to the fane of echoing Albanum, the headlong Anio, the grove of Tibur, the orchards watered by the wandering rills. But in the lonely vigils he sat—

With close-lipped Patience for our only friend,
Sad Patience, too near neighbor of Despair,
Epicurean by vocation, Stoic when the guests had gone, poet forever.

AGAIN THE GROVER NORRIS CASE.

The Federal Circuit Court of Appeals, in a decision filed in St. Louis, has affirmed the conviction of Victor Seymour of Lincoln, Neb., on a perjury charge growing out of his testimony at the senatorial investigation of the Grocer Norris affair. The opinion of the court, written by Presiding Judge Stone and concurred in by Judges Paris and Sanborn, upholds a jail sentence and a fine imposed on the defendant by a Federal Court jury in Nebraska last June.

The decision recalls one of the most despicable tricks in American political history. The year was 1930. Senator Norris of Nebraska, desirous of retiring, had been persuaded by a national appeal to run again for the post in which he had rendered notable service to the nation. At the last minute, in the hope of confusing Nebraska voters, opponents of the Senator within his party caused the filing of the name of George W. Norris, an unknown grocer of Broken Bow, Neb., in the senatorial primary. But for the failure of the schemers to observe an election law technicality, the primary ballot would have borne these identical names and the distinguished public servant from Nebraska might very well have been defeated through a ruse tantamount to fraud.

The contention of Seymour's counsel is that Senator Nye, chairman of the Senate committee that investigated the case, had no right to administer the oath to Seymour and that a resolution of one branch of Congress calling for an inquiry is not a law. As to how the Supreme Court would rule on these objections, if the case should be appealed, it is pertinent to recall that the court upheld the Senate's right to punish witnesses for contempt in the MacCracken case and that the defendant in that case subsequently served a jail sentence.

A Cure for the Jitters

AT no time since Mr. Roosevelt took office has it been truer than it is today that the progress of recovery is better than the sentiment in business. Partisan Democrats have a number of explanations for this paradox which they find rather reassuring. But the wisest heads in the administration would do well not to be satisfied with them.

For underneath the obvious partisan attack on the New Deal and underneath the propaganda from vested interests which the President has challenged, there are solid causes for the lack of confidence which can and should be met. They come down, it seems to me, to two fundamental things: one, to the fact that the program of reform which affects the mainstays of enterprise has been dealt out item by item, with no clear view of the whole program and therefore with no definite assurances as to how far the program extends; second, to the fact that the administration has decided to incur the largest voluntary deficit in our history without any statement of what it proposes to do after this deficit is spent.

The result is that a very large number of its own policies, it appears as normally it does, a nightmare in which they see before them an endless series of drastic reforms and an interminable series of budgetary deficits.

By a curious irony an administration which believes in the necessity of planning for the future finds itself widely distrusted and its efforts weakened at every turn precisely because it does not disclose the plan of its own policies. It speaks men ask for co-operation. They do not get it for the simple reason that they do not tell their listeners what is the plan of campaign. They must not be astonished if, as a result, many believe, however untrue, however unjust, however fantastically, that this failure to disclose the New Deal policies as a whole is due either to hidden purposes or to the lack of any clear and coherent purpose.

Back in the spring of 1933, when the crisis was acute and the President's prestige invincible, there was much to be said in favor of bringing in one surprising measure after another. But it is very evident that in this session of Congress it would have been far better to have followed the traditional procedure and to have outlined the whole legislative program in the opening message to Congress.

It is bad for the nerves of the country and it is inherently undesirable as a matter of public policy for the President to keep the country guessing as to what his whole program is. For those who distrust him, the fear of what he may have up his sleeve is paralyzing. For those who wish to support him, the mystery is demoralizing.

The remedy is simple. The President should make it plain to the country what his whole program of reform is. He need not and should not cross all the t's and dot all the i's on particular bills; it would be better, in fact, to say frankly that he wishes his program to be the result of compromise and adjustment. But he should make definite what is the budget of necessary, permanent, structural measures that he expects Congress to pass before he and this Congress submit themselves again to the judgment of the voters. He will, I believe, find the country far more willing to go along if it can see clearly the end of the road.

On the budget, the moment may not be altogether auspicious for a definite commitment. But it may very well be auspicious before this session of Congress comes to an end. Both the Secretary of the Treasury and the chairman of the Security Exchange Commission have announced the reopening of the private capital market. By all the ordinary signs, they appear to be right. Now if the administration believes that the private capital market is reviving, then by the logic of its own principles it must also believe that the era of budgetary deficits is coming to its close. The stagnation of private capital and the Government deficits are two sides of the same shield. The revival of the one must mean the revival of the other, if it appears as normally it does, a nightmare in which they see before them an endless series of drastic reforms and an interminable series of budgetary deficits.

This presumably is the fiscal principle on which the administration is acting and as soon as it has become a little more clear and definite that the flow of capital into private enterprise has in fact been resumed, no greater impetus could be given to the revival than to come forward with revised estimates which forecast the conditions on which the budget can and will be balanced.

Government by Default

From the San Antonio (Tex.) Express.

THE fact that the biennial municipal campaigns are under way has moved the International City Managers' Association again to investigate this country's chronic, generally prevalent civic ailment—government by default.

That organization has collected figures showing that, on the average, only 41 per cent of the citizens take the trouble to participate in local elections. Residents in the smaller cities, it appears, show more interest than those in the larger population centers. In the 20,000-to-100,000 population group, approximately two-fifths of the adults voted in the last two elections. In the cities of 10,000 to 20,000 population, slightly less than half the citizens voted.

Probably the explanation is that the smaller community lives closer to its government. It is not surprising that relatively more persons vote in the presidential than in the city election. In 1932, the participation amounted to 54 per cent of the adult population—a proportion far too low for civic health. On that point, President Coolidge sounded a warning:

"We place our reliance on self-government. There will be mistakes, but mistakes which the people themselves make. But if the people fail to vote, a government will be developed which is not their government."

To what extent has that condition already developed in city administration? Yet the very people who keep away from the polls on election day would be the first to protest against any serious infringement upon local self-government.

Lynching's Worst Feature

From the Greensboro (N. C.) Daily News.

ONE bad feature of lynching which must be admitted pretty generally is the South picks on the Negro—the sort of defense of the practice that is offered by members of the United States Congress from South Carolina. Indeed, we are inclined to think this is the worst feature, because, believe it or not, there are scattered throughout the entire South a lot of most-brained electors who seem to feel the same way about lynching as do Coley Bease and Cotton Ed Smith.

It was Senator Smith's turn this year to rise in the national legislative halls to oppose the anti-lynching bill. Mr. Bease did not at Washington this term, or he would have Cotton Ed got around to it. It is the argument of such old-fashioned Southern chivalry as Smith and Bease that there is one crime for which lynching is the only fit punishment. When a white woman has been insulted by a "black brute," she should be asked if she is to point her finger at the man who has insulted her. If she does, she should be lynched. A woman pointed her finger at a white man the other day over at Kannapolis, but it proved he was at prayer-meeting at the time of the alleged assault.

Which might be all right if the woman for rape were simply that of hanging, setting on fire or burning the first convenient Negro. We have never been able to believe that the first place there is the danger of mistakes—we have heard of rapid victory making some mistakes; we have known mistakes which did.

Passage of a Federal anti-lynching law is not a pet project of ours—we have not made it to make up our mind to vote for it. We are glad Cotton Ed didn't happen to be at Greensboro when the whole country of gro hobbos was arrested. Deputies might have helped string them all up.

And then when one of the women in the case sought to recall her testimony as to the outrage, he'd have been out on a limb himself.

Honestly, we, who have never tried it, moved and had being for appreciable time anywhere else save right down here in the midst of those who believe in the high right as the savior of womanhood, have never seen more than half a dozen Southern gentlemen to whom we would delegate the right to lynch.

None of these, we might add, has been or expected to be right some member of Congress.

THE PEOPLE WANT PEACE

From the Detroit News.

GREAT BRITAIN is glimpsing the first rays of peace. The report is good. It has implications. From all over the country, men and women have come in from representative labor and small business to stand in this to give, a questionnaire is being circulated to determine the will of the people concerning membership in the League of Nations, reduction of armaments, abolition of military and naval aircraft and private ownership of arms and munitions manufacture.

Already more than 3,000,000 replies have been received indicating overwhelming sentiment in favor of the League of Nations membership and against big armaments and everything likely to provoke war. The dispatch from London says the peace movement is emboldened. The Government is now receiving many rumors of war are abroad. It would be wholly embracing the sentiment of the great majority of the citizens and subjects.

The DAILY MERRY

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, April 24.
THE President and Secretary of the Senate recently put in a quiet effort to ease the order of the Senate. Reason for their sudden interest in the committee now is that the committee now is preparing to take up the matter of the House placed in the Senate before this country.

The investigation touched on the banking houses—the Guaranty and J. P. Morgan. When the French and British governments heard of this, they hurried to the State Department. So also did the French Legation of France. From Mr. Hull they got no appreciable comfort.

Hull consulted Senator Nye, to whom was a serious threat in Europe, asked him to show interesting documents to the State Department before publication.

Six months before, the Munitions Committee had more or less similar interest in the State Department regarding South American affairs. This time, however, it was not.

Mr. Roosevelt only rebuked his own. Not satisfied with Hull, he said no one knows what went over Hull's head. He went over to the White House. President then summoned three most active members of the Munitions Committee, gave them a carefully phrased lecture on the danger of stirring up trouble. Roosevelt did not directly tell them to soft-pedal. He used the strategy of emphasizing the danger in Europe, the dispute over the Senate's revelation would have on the prospective results.

PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR NEW TILLES PARK

Transients to Prepare Recreational Center for Children in the County.

Detailed plans have been prepared for the development into a children's park of the tract at Lay and Litzinger roads, St. Louis County, donated for that purpose in 1932 by C. A. Tilles, capitalist, but never developed.

As told exclusively in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch, the work of converting the 57-acre wooded area into a recreational park will be done by about 250 transients who will be camped in the rear of the Tilles home, adjoining the park land.

Plans prepared by L. B. Taylor, architect, for the Park Department, provide for the erection around the area of a six-foot stone wall. The main entrance to the park would be at Lay and Litzinger roads, marked by a gate-keeper's lodge, 20 feet high. Over a wrought-iron gate would appear the legend "Tilles Public Park—City of St. Louis."

Recreational facilities contemplated include a playground 200 by 500 feet, equipped with a wading pool, and four softball diamonds in other sections of the park. There also would be four tennis courts, horseshoe pitching courts, shelter houses and comfort stations.

Picnic plots would be prepared throughout attractive wooded sections, equipped with rustic grills and camp stoves. Bubble fountains would be placed at convenient points.

The plans have been drawn so as to provide for the retention of the natural rustic beauty of the tract. A concrete roadway, 20 feet in width and about 5000 feet long, would be constructed, winding among the trees.

Sam N. Welch, director of the transient bureau, announced the camp would be established within a few weeks. The work, he estimated, might take two years.

The labor, performed under the supervision of city engineers, would be done without cost to the city, the men receiving the regular weekly sums, ranging from $3 to $1 a week given at the other Federal transient camps.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

THE Roman holiday has passed! With regret, in the early hours of this morning, Watch and Wardens hung the portiere, which had disgusted them, back on their rods, tossed the sandals back into the darkest recesses of the closet, laid the shriveled coronet gently away on the shelf, and let slip from their bedraggled tunics and assumed personalities.

All that the summons, delivered in the form of a scroll by the "Vestal Virgins," promised was provided for the diversion of the make-believe ancients who thronged the Pythian Building last night.

The program said that lions would be thrown to the Christians. They were—debutantes in pelts.

The program promised a chariot race. It was run as spectators lolled over the canopied balconies or reclined at tables to applaud a curve well maneuvered or a collision averted.

Miss Gladys McRee "drove" a car constructed by Leon Hocker Jr. and drawn by him and Charles Lamy, who held an easy lead until the final lap, when they were nosed out on the curve by Miss Katherine Mahaffey, "driving" John Scott and Edward J. Walsh Jr., harnessed to a substantial chariot built by the latter, whose hobby is racing cars and speed boats. The third chariot which John Garesche built and pulled with William McChesney, collided at the first turn with the chair serving as a milestone and spilled its driver, Miss Adelaide Mahaffey, as a black-faced Uncle Remus, brother of Remulus, out on the floor.

Miss Katherine Mahaffey claimed her laurels and rode the circus in triumph to the fanfare of the brasses in the orchestra which played for dancing.

The program promised Cleopatra would bathe. She did—in the celluloid reproduction on the screen—for the Saturnalia opened with a showing of the talkie named for the great vamp.

old soldiers. Coach Jimmy Conzelmann, sponsor of the Watch and Ward, playing in full white beard and ample robes the Tetrarch of Galilee, the part of mediator, brought the operetta to a not-too-unhappy close.

The guests themselves looked like the supernumeraries of a fourth-rate opera company on the last leg of a six-month tour of the hinterland. Ingenuity devised the costumes, some of them handsome, some of them grotesque.

When the committee announced no one would be admitted unless disguised some way, they meant it. A few who did not heed the injunction had to borrow laurel wreaths from friends inside, so as to pass the guard at the portals.

Miss Martha Love and William Mullus Polk Jr. appeared as the aged Romulus and Remus in wigs of white cotton batting and sheets. Across one shoulder Miss Love wore a fur piece, supposed to be the hide of their wolf nurse.

White predominated in the costumes of the young women who affected Grecian rather than Roman style of soft draperies, chiefly of cheese cloth. Miss Louise Kennard made a spectacular entrance as Diana of the Chase, armed with bow and arrow and restraining on a taut leash her large Irish setter.

Miss Anne Francis vied with the Cleopatra of the screen in the magnificence of her costume. It was a close-fitting gown of purple and gold studded with brilliants. With it she wore a winged head-dress from which hung heavy pendants of metal.

John Scott, whose ingenuity was largely responsible for the success of the party, was Daniel, apparently quite safe with Miss Adelaide Mahaffey as the "King" of Beasts. The Mackay girls, Miss Suzanne and Miss Lucie, were hardly recognizable as sisters. Escorted by a cardinal in full regalia, Miss Lucie appeared in the somber garb of a nun, and Miss Suzanne, with Finley McElroy, in authentic Bedouin robes, wandered in, they said from the Holy Land.

THE wedding of Miss Dorothy Talbot Lund, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leathan Lund, 5968 West Cabanne place, and Austin Porter Leland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Leland, 18 Windermere place, will take place today. They are to be married at the Lund home, which the bride chose because she has lived there as her life. Pains and tall cyodiodium ferns centered with large clusters of Easter lilies have been arranged with cathedral candles as an altar on the east wall of the living room, where the double ring service, used infrequently in recent years, will be read at 5 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. George A. Campbell of the Union Avenue Christian Church.

The few guests invited to the ceremony will group themselves at each side of a white canvas aisle bordered by statuettes, through which the bridal party will pass.

The wedding party is to be led by Miss Alice Emery of Chevy Chase, Md., as bridesmaid, and Mrs. Joel Y. Lund, sister-in-law of the bride, matron of honor. Joel Y. Lund is to be best man, and Palmer Livingston Clarkson, groomsmen.

The bride will follow on the arm of her father, who will give her in marriage. She and her attendants will all wear spring-like white costumes and will carry large arm bouquets of lilies. Mrs. Lund and Miss Emery will be attired in broad striped white seersucker taffeta, unusual models designed in stiff, almost tailored effect, and complemented by short, fitted jackets, the necks of which are outlined in upright taffeta pleatings. Loose dolman sleeves graduate to fit the arms below the elbows. The gowns themselves are made with long bodices, fitted over the hips, where full skirts, made of many yards of taffeta, are attached. Very large hats of white Milan hemp, trimmed beneath the brim with taffeta pleatings and at the crown with fresh lavender lilacs to match their bouquets, will be worn.

The bride's costume is of white tulle, lace, fashioned simply over white satin, with a round train several yards long, and full sleeves caught into a cuff at the wrists. A flat lace collar adorns the neck. The tulle bridal veil is to be arranged separately in three full panels from a wreath of orange blossoms, designed to show the hair, and a shorter veil is to cover her face. She will carry white lilies. Her jewelry will include a rectangular diamond and platinum pin, the gift of Mr. Leland.

Mrs. Lund is to wear light blue crepe with a cape to match, and a dark blue hat and accessories. Mrs. Leland has chosen royal blue, with a harmonizing hat and accessories.

PAGE 4C MAXIMUM 85C TAX FOR SCHOOLS URGED

Principals and Teachers Ask for It—Board Delays Fixing Rate for a Month.

A petition signed by nearly all of the public schools principals and teachers, urging the Board of Education to fix the general school tax rate for 1935 at the maximum authorized of 85 cents on the $100 valuation has been presented to the board. It was referred to the Finance Committee.

At its April meeting, the board deferred action for a month on a recommendation of the Finance Committee for an 82-cent general rate. Board members have said the lower rate would force a new reduction in salaries or curtailment of some educational activities, or possibly both. All school salaries have been subject to a 10 per cent reduction for nearly three years and for the same time the system of automatic increases of salary in the teaching corps, to reward service of increasing length, has been suspended.

No reference to the salary question was made in the petition, which was circulated through the various associations of teachers and principals and submitted to Superintendent of Instruction Gerling. The superintendent passed it on to the board through Secretary-Treasurer Hickey.

The petition carried 3019 signatures, including those of about 200 custodians, matrons and others not in the teaching corps. The system has 2967 teachers and principals.

Economies Recalled.

The petition called attention to the reduction in school revenue by decreases in the assessment in recent years and to the numerous economies adopted by the board in reducing expenses "to the lowest possible level for effective operation." The economies included the salary cut, reduction of the number of employees, which brought about an increase in the number of pupils taught by each teacher, and retrenchment in supply quotas, building repairs and various school services.

It was acknowledged in the petition, that the board and the executive officers had economized thoughtfully, but it was pointed out that the general trend of living costs and material costs was upward and that other cities of size comparable to St. Louis were expanding their school expenditures and returning to pre-depression programs. The emphasis in municipal, state, federal and private enterprise was on a return to pre-depression standards, it was asserted.

The petition recalled that at a special election last year the people had authorized the maximum annual school tax rate of 85 cents for general purposes until 1937, but that the board had levied a rate of only 81 cents in 1934.

"We believe the full legal rate is essential to continued effective operation of our schools," continued the petition which is addressed to Superintendent Gerling. "We respectfully ask that you present fully to the board the necessity for and urge the adoption of the full legal rate of taxation for the next fiscal year, in addition to any which may be necessary for the sinking fund revenue. We urge this so that our city may continue to have the enviable reputation it has long enjoyed as a leader in educational matters."

New Members Not Committed.

Since the April meeting the personnel of the Finance Committee has been changed, placing proponents of the 85-cent general rate in the majority. Sentiment on the rate has not crystallized and the result may depend on the votes of some or all of the three new members who have not committed themselves publicly on the tax question so far.

Regardless of the decision on the general rate, it was anticipated a sinking fund rate of 3 cents on the $100 would be adopted. Advocates of the lower general rate wanted to keep the combined rates at a total of 85 cents, as they were last year, when the charge was 84 cents for general purposes and 1 cent for the sinking fund. Teachers have pointed out that when the board waived a sinking fund rate in recent years or made this rate only 1 or 2 cents, the city either maintained or increased its sinking fund charge, so that the gross tax rate remained stationary or went up.

Teachers' Salaries.

There are about 2900 grade school teachers, whose average pay is $2000 a year; 600 high school teachers, with average pay of $2800, and 250 special teachers, with average pay of $3000. About half of the grade school instructors have attained the maximum pay of $2430 a year, net, and about a third of the high school teachers have reached the maximum of $3600, net. Women and men who have been teaching in the system for 30 years have averaged $1500 a year in the grades or $2200 in the high schools. The average service of the teachers has been 20 years.

Teachers with full appointments, who started service within the last four years and have been denied automatic increases, receive only $1200 a year, although they have college degrees. Substitutes, on the first rung of the teaching ladder, receive $1000 a year and "permanent substitutes," the rank attained after two years, $1100. The 10 per cent pay cut does not apply to those receiving $1200 a year or less.

PUBLISHERS' GROUP AGAINST NRA BILL

Committee Recommends Resistance to New Code if Measure Passes.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 24. — The Code Committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Committee recommended today to its members at their annual meeting here that they resist any effort to continue the extension of the NRA now before Congress is adopted in its present form. The report was submitted by Howard Davis, the committee's chairman, who is also president of the association.

It pointed out that Articles VI and VII of the present code safeguarded the publishers against Government interference in labor disputes and stated that the method provided for settling controversies "had been used successfully for more than 30 years."

"There is no occasion now to scrap that experience in favor of governmental interference and regulation. There is no occasion to accept a measure which can only be regarded as an incitement to employ to ignore obligations," the report continued. "There is no occasion for you to waive the safeguards of the first, the fourth and the fourteenth amendments to the Constitution."

Both the National Industrial Recovery Act and the new newspaper code, which was adopted voluntarily, terminate June 16.

The report describes the NRA bill now before Congress as a "direct and deliberate effort to impose Federal regulation on all business" and terms it "a licensing system."

A warning that attacks on the freedom of the press in the United States "are being made from many sources in many ways" was given the Publishers Association by its president, Howard Davis, of the New York Herald Tribune, in his opening address to the organization at its forty-ninth annual meeting here today.

"You are all acquainted with the attempt in Louisiana to curtail the freedom of the press through taxation," he told 500 publishers attending the convention. "The newspapers of Louisiana took the case into the Federal court and obtained an order restraining the collection of the tax."

DR. ESCHENBRENNER, RESIGNS AS ISOLATION HOSPITAL HEAD

Leaving to Join Another Physician in Private Practice at Ardmore, Ok.

Dr. John Eschenbrenner has resigned, effective May 1, as superintendent and chief resident physician of Isolation Hospital, the city's institution for contagious diseases. He will join a physician in an established private practice at Ardmore, Ok.

Hospital Commissioner Thompson, who had no successor in mind, praised the services of Dr. Eschenbrenner and expressed regret that he was leaving, because of the fine work he had done, particularly in the encephalitis epidemic of 1933. Dr. Eschenbrenner started as an interne at City Hospital in 1930 and then became a physician at Isolation Hospital, taking charge of that institution May 22, 1933, under the Dickinson administration.

His pay was $2500 a year, besides quarters and maintenance.

OPERATION PERFORMED ON EYE OF HELEN KELLER'S TEACHER

NEW YORK, April 24. — Mrs. Anne Sullivan Macy, teacher of the deaf and blind Helen Keller, was said to be "resting comfortably" after an operation which it is hoped will restore her sight.

The operation was performed yesterday at Doctors' Hospital for removal of a cataract on her left eye. Helen Keller waited outside the operating room.

It will be some time before the result of the operation will be known.

COUNTY RELIEF LIST SMALLER, COST HIGHER

Decrease of 379 Families in March but Costs Advance
About $14,000.

By the Associated Press.

St. Louis County families on relief during March numbered 9615, a decrease of 379 from February. Howard M. Slutes, County Relief Administrator, reported today. Thus, about 48,000 of the county's population of 220,000 received aid last month, on the basis of relief workers' estimate of five persons in each family.

Of the total of 9615 families, 7547 got direct relief at a total cost of $170,720 as against expenditure of $154,643 for direct relief of 8324 families in February. Slutes attributed the increase in expenditures for a smaller number of families to the longer month of March and to an increased allotment of FERA funds.

In March 2123 individuals received work relief at a cost of $83,027 as compared with 2140 persons employed in February at a cost of $78,875. There were 1724 persons employed in manual labor and 399 on clerical work during March.

The decrease in the number of families on relief, Slutes said, was due both to increased employment by private industry and elimination of some families after a more thorough investigation.

Referring to "vague rumors" that some families not entitled to aid were on the relief rolls, Slutes requested that anyone having definite information communicate with the St. Louis County Relief Commission.

TEXAN HELD IN KILLING HE LAID TO HIS SON, 8

District Attorney Says Boy Sleepwalker Could Not Have Fired Shotgun.

By the Associated Press.

GREENVILLE, Tex., April 24. — S. P. Darden, who told officers his 32-year-old wife was killed by their son Jackie, 8, as he walked in his sleep, was held on a murder charge here today.

"I never expected anything like this," the Caddo Mills, Tex., filling station operator protested tearfully after he had been informed of the charge against him. "I expected an inquest to be held, but nothing like this."

Darden, who was arrested after attending his wife's funeral, said he was awakened early Monday morning by the report of a gun and saw Jackie standing by the bed where the woman lay, a shotgun in his hands and still asleep. Jackie says he "can't remember what happened."

District Attorney Henry Pharr said it would have been physically impossible for the child to have fired the weapon. He also disclosed that Darden recently had obtained for himself and his wife a joint insurance policy, containing a clause providing for extra indemnity in case of accidental death.

The 33-year-old Darden broke down on being taken to the jail and asked if he had a statement to make.

"It's the first time I ever was in jail in my life," he said. "What am I charged with? They (the arresting officers) told me they wanted me to bring me to Greenville for examination."

Later Darden told the prosecutor he would be ready to go before the grand jury.

"It will be hard for Jackie Glenn to live it down," Darden said in clinging to his story that the boy killed his mother.

TAVERN OWNER DENIES UNION TROUBLE CAUSED EXPLOSION

East St. Louis Woman Says Employees Belonged to Labor Organizations.

An explosion early yesterday at a tavern at 1919 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, was not caused by trouble with union labor organizations, as reported by police, Mrs. Elsie Bourion, owner of the tavern, said today.

The explosion occurred in an open area at the rear of a sheet metal works at 1917 St. Clair avenue.

Mrs. Bourion denied non-union bartenders and musicians were employed by her, as police reported, and said she employed only one waitress, who was a union member.

TRACING OF BILLS IN RANSOM BEGUN AT BREMER TRIAL

Government Charges Five of Defendants Disposed of $57,000 of Money at Chicago.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 24.—The Government produced testimony today in an attempt to connect persons who handled the $200,000 ransom with the kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, Arthur (Doc) Barker and nine co-defendants are on trial.

George F. Sullivan, United States Attorney, summoned several Chicago bank clerks as witnesses in an effort to show seven of the defendants cashed ransom bills.

Charged with passing part of the $150,000 in $10 bills and $50,000 in $5 bills are John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, William Vidler, Philip Delaney and James J. Wilson, all of Chicago; Oliver Berg, now in a Joliet (Ill.) prison; Mrs. Edna Murray and Jesse Doyle, both of Kansas City.

In his opening statement to the jury 10 days ago, Sullivan said he would prove that McLaughlin, Vidler, Delaney, Wilson and Berg disposed of $57,000 of the ransom money to Chicago banks. He did not mention Doyle or Mrs. Murray.

It was subsequently learned that $107,000 was disposed of in Havana, Cuba.

The Government late Tuesday introduced testimony intended to show, through association, that the defendants were linked in the conspiracy.

Home Beauty Treatment Works Wonders

To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and youthful in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin itself immediately it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The Mercolized Wax treatment will remove this outer skin. Mercolized Wax is put on at night just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead and half-dead particles a little each day, no discomfort being experienced. With the disappearance of the old cuticle, the newer, healthier skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty of your skin. MIAMI DETECTIVE TESTIFIES REWARD WAS TO BE SPLIT

Says He Was to Divide $15,000 for Return of Jewels With Certain Authorities.

MIAMI, Fla., April 24.—Testimony that certain authorities, private detectives and defense counsel were to divide among themselves a $15,000 reward for the return of $185,000 worth of jewelry stolen from Mrs. Margaret Bell, former Follies dancer, was introduced today at the trial of two Brooklyn suspects, charged with the holdup. After the State rested, the defense announced only three witnesses would be used in behalf of the two suspects. Two are alibi witnesses.

The testimony was given by Eugene Bryant, Miami Beach detective chief, who said he was instrumental in returning the jewelry after Nicholas Montone and Charles Call, the suspects, allegedly entered Mrs. Bell's suite, took her jewels and robbed her companion, Harry Content, New York broker, of a watch and approximately $100 in cash.

Bryant, who has told two versions of how the jewelry was returned, testified that under the alleged agreement to split the $15,000 reward, he was to receive $3500.

Another $2000, Bryant said, was to be given to Benjamin Cohen, attorney, as his fee for defending Montone and Call, and additional sums were to be paid to other officials who had been involved in the case. He did not mention any other names.

Bryant testified that on the afternoon of March 18, Jack Kehoe, assistant to Fred Pine, County Solicitor, told him in a telephone conversation that "I'll have to have $500 more for the fat man."

The term "fat man," police officers told newspapermen, commonly is used by racketeers to designate the head man of a racket.

"Did you say anything to Kehoe over the telephone about his getting a share?" asked Special Prosecutor George Worley.

Says He Promised $500.

"I told Kehoe," Bryant said, "he was to get $500 and he said: 'When I get that reward I am going to take a vacation. I think we'll need a vacation.'"

Miami officials were among several persons commanded to appear in New York next Monday for questioning by the grand jury on the handling of the jewels after the robbery of Mrs. Bell.

Included in the group were County Solicitor Pine, his assistant, Kehoe, and Detective Chief Bryant, as well as Cohen and C. Harrington, adjuster for the Noel C. Scaffa Detective Agency of New York.

Call is under an eight-year prison sentence for the unarmed robbery of Mrs. Bell. He and Montone are on trial for armed robbery of Content.

Scaffa's conference here in March with Pine, Kehoe, Bryant and Cohen was followed, Federal agents said, by the recovery by Detective Chief Bryant and Harrington from a safety deposit box of the jewels stolen from Mrs. Bell.

Department of Justice Report.

The division of a $15,000 reward offered for return of Mrs. Bell's gems was investigated by Department of Justice agents, who reported public officials here allocated portions of the reward before recovery of the jewels.

Testimony in the trial of Montone and Call indicated the Bell jewelry was taken to New York following the robbery and later returned here.

The sweetheart of one of the two New Yorkers implicated in the jewelry robbery of Mrs. Bell testified yesterday she "turned them in" to the Department of Justice.

The young woman, who identified herself as Ruth Kalker of Dayton, O., was a surprise witness for the State at the trial of Call and Montone for the robbery of the 71-year-old Harry Content.

Says She Lived With Call.

She testified she lived with Call eight weeks before the robbery and deserted him when she learned of it. She said she fled to her home in Dayton, O., where she wrote a letter to the Department of Justice, naming Call and Montone as the robbers.

Miss Kalker said when Call returned to their apartment the night of Jan. 28, "he told me he had gone to the Miami Biltmore Hotel and that Montone took the jewels from Mrs. Bell while he robbed Content and they then ran down the stairs and got away."

Dr. Howard Blake, New York dentist, who with his wife accompanied the former dancer and her broker friend from New York, testified he encountered Montone the afternoon of the robbery at Hialeah Park race track, where Mrs. Bell wore the jewelry. Montone, whom he had known as the employee of a club at Saratoga, N. Y., he said, inquired at what hotel they were staying.

Hoover to Press Charges.

Scaffa, who had shortly before returned to New York after a cell conference here with Montone, was credited with arranging return of the jewelry in a statement Monday by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice. He has announced in Washington he will press Federal charges against all persons implicated in the reported interstate transportation of the Montone confessed, Thomas F. Fitzgerald, New York police lieutenant, told the jury, that he robbed Mrs. Bell while Call held up Content.

Fitzgerald said Montone told him he afterward flew to New York with the jewels and gave them to a man he named as Harry Edwards of Sunnyside, L. I.

-always so terribly tired! Should I try this Yeast, Dr. Lee?

"I AM IRRITABLE, JUMPY . . . always so terribly tired . . ."

Dr. R. E. Lee receives many letters like this. How marvelous for people who feel this way to have the facts about the new yeast.

DR. R. E. LEE'S REPLY—

Unnatural fatigue corrected by new food. Supplies "protective substances" no other food gives you in sufficient quantity

FROM great American hospitals and clinics come reports of an amazingly successful new treatment in cases of run-down condition.

Constipation comes chiefly from an undersupply in your diet of certain "protective substances." Ordinary foods do not supply enough of these substances. But the new Fleischmann's Yeast supplies them plentifully.

As soon as you eat this new Fleischmann's Yeast, it starts increasing the flow of your stomach's juices—tones and strengthens your whole intestinal tract. Soon you begin to digest food more easily. Your bowels become regular. You no longer have to dose yourself with harmful cathartics.

Begin today to eat the new Fleischmann's Yeast, and eat it regularly, every day. You'll find the following rules helpful:—

Eat 3 cakes of the new Fleischmann's Yeast every day—1/2 hour before each meal—plain, or dissolved in water, milk, or fruit juice.

If you've been taking cathartics—cut them out gradually, not all at once. Give the new Fleischmann's Yeast time to normalize your bowels.

At grocers, restaurants, soda fountains.

Fleischmann's Yeast

FLEISCHMANN HEALTH RESEARCH DEPARTMENT

895 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK, N. Y.

DR. R. E. LEE, DIRECTOR

Dear Mr. . . .

While unnatural fatigue may come from many different causes, I believe your doctor might well suspect your constipation.

I am sending you a booklet on the new Fleischmann's Yeast, showing that constipation was relieved with extraordinary effectiveness.

The reason is quite simple.—This new fresh yeast supplies certain "protective substances" which ordinary foods do not give you in sufficient quantity. These substances are necessary to keep the stomach and bowels in healthy, active condition. By promoting regular elimination, the new Fleischmann's Yeast gradually frees your system of the poisons that cause unnatural fatigue.

Cathartics should be discontinued gradually until the new fresh yeast has entirely normalized your intestinal tract.

Very truly yours,

Fair and Puzzled.
You Would Like Gassaway.
Frightened to Death.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—Washington, you would be puzzled, if you were not a government responsible for the depression, 10,000,000 idle, 50,000 different complaints, 50,000 suggested remedies. In the midst of this, the President, who is said to hear looks well, and is courageous as usual, is in the White House and said some interesting things. The difficulty is when things told you are interesting, you cannot print them; when you print them they are uninteresting.

A few days here whom you know as Congressman Gassaway from Oklahoma. A fine orator, a Democrat, he has always been a success at home, some of them. Asked why he doesn't come more often he replies with a shrug, "because they are not printing anything that I know about."

Congressman Gassaway's fine old is a combination of Daniel Boone and Andrew Jackson, hair gray and brown, in spite of 50 years.

His head, Mrs. Eleanor Gassaway, intelligent, editor, and his extremely small feet, you see with high heels, tops of his boots 11 inches high, highly polished.

Mr. Gassaway went to school 15 months in his life, but possesses information and common sense more valuable than Latin or Greek and married a highly educated girl. She persuaded him to quit his party, probably dancing, and to do these things with low heels. He said, "I nearly broke my back for nothing before and since. He said, 'If you spend your whole life on your feet, your feet don't have time to grow.'"

He was exactly a "birth control" man. He was number eight in a family of 13 children. His youngest is still alive, has 47 children and he, the Oklahoma Congressman, is the father of 13 children. He says "nothing more than a daughter to put her arm around your neck, and tell you what a great man you are."

A House committee approved a bill appropriating $457,000,000 for the navy. That is important news. Was more important, describes a new passenger "clipper," air-ship 200 feet up, flying at 144 miles an hour from Hawaii to California, 2,000 miles non-stop. That is done by the "private industry" of the Pan-American company.

Two brothers, 15 and 10 years of age, with a young friend were going to an amusement last Christmas night. George Bond and Carl Moore of Poplar Bluff, Mo., thought it would be amusing to frighten the children by running through the streets, telling them "you will see the boys get there." The two older boys "got there." The 10-year-old boy, James, was dropped dead of fright, as he pursued him. A sensible man decided that the two men had spent six months in jail and $100 fine for their "joke." The two might well have made it 10 years for it was stupid manslaughter. There is nothing more brutal, and more completely worthy of the phrase "yahoo!" than frightening children.

Roger Babson, usually wise, worries about young men gathered from a hobo life on highways and freight cars and employed in CCC camps. The Government plans to recruit a division of those CCC young men and Mr. Babson says "the CCC camps are becoming hotbeds of radicalism. If not soon absorbed into legitimate industry, they will become a revolutionary army."

They might have become something as bad as a revolutionary army if they had been left to wander homeless and hungry on the public highways.

Revolutions do not start, usually, among men well fed, decently clothed.

Mr. Babson also fears that "all the gold under control of one man in Washington might be a great temptation to a dictator" and even President Senator Huey Long, who, he fears, might take a "20-to-1 gamble" on it.

That the Senate Long has not shown any interest in the gold reserve. The timid may remember the fact that the "one man who controls the gold reserve controls the army and navy."

"This Is Not to Be Quoted"

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NOTHING but optimism around the publishers' convention at the Waldorf. Reading from Maine to California there are 700 editors in town.

When a newspaperman stops at the Waldorf-Astoria you know things are brighter than Edison's lamp factory. And only one of them came by motor bus.

Easy to spot a fellow who has sat a thousand miles in a bus seat. For the next two days his walk is a crouching rumba.

Another editor had a tough time getting anything to eat in the big dining room. It was his own fault. The waiter kept handing him the menu and the editor kept returning the manuscript.
